YMCA of Pulaski County to close its pool Saturday

Staff Report

As of Saturday, Oct. 1 the pool at the YMCA of Pulaski County will be closed.

Chris Ayers, Interim Chief Executive Officer of the facility made the announcement on Facebook earlier this week.

In the letter, Ayers says that since his arrival, he has been working to ensure the Y operates efficiently, safely and is financially secure.

"You have seen and supported us as we closed our childcare center, which is reopening Monday, Oct. 3, and you've seen signage around the building as we update other areas around the Y."

Ayers said one area that has continuously been difficult to manage has been the pool.

"The national lifeguard shortage has made headlines internationally and our community hasn't been immune to the issue. Throughout the summer we have had to operate on shortened hours due to a shortage of lifeguards. Maintaining the pool (even when it is closed) is easily one of our highest costs at the Y, accounting for 50 percent of our daily operations costs," he said.

"With all this in mind, the YMCA of Pulaski County Board has voted to close the pool effective Oct. 1, 2022, until further notice. During this interim time, a newly developed committee will explore a potential path forward including potential new partnerships that will help share the cost of operating our pool"

Ayers said the board did not come to this decision lightly.

"For over 100 years, the YMCA has been a leader in aquatic programs. Aquatics have been a staple of what we do in communities across the country. The YMCA of Pulaski County has offered a Learn-to-Swim program for all area second graders, lifeguard training for other area aquatic facilities, older adult exercise classes and has provided a location for swim team practices for Pulaski County High School. As the only indoor pool in the county, we want to be able to continue to serve Pulaski County, but we must do so in a way that is financially feasible."

Unanticipated revenues boost county, schools

By MIKE WILLIAMS
The Patriot

Unanticipated revenues from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) and the cigarette tax are the driving force behind nearly $15 million in budget amendments approved Monday night by the Board of Supervisors.

Whenever budget amendments exceed 1 percent of the total county budget, state law requires the Board of Supervisors to hold a public hearing.

No one spoke during the hearing.

County Finance Director Diane Newby provided the board with an overview of the amendments. She explained that additional ARPA funding had been received by the county for projects in the library and the Calfee Cultural and Community Center, tourism advertising and promotion and municipal utility relief for past due water and sewer customers not served by previous utility relief.

Much of the budget amendments - $6.9 million - include county capital improvement projects already in process, including GIS equipment and ortho mapping, information technology and communication upgrades, vehicles, building and HVAC improvements, road improvements and county parks and recreation improvements.

County Administrator Jonathan Sweet told the board budget adjustments are standard with unanticipated revenues.

"We're fortunate to see unanticipated revenues," Sweet said, using the cigarette tax revenue as an example.

According to Newby, the county received $307,550 in cigarette tax revenues for the first two quarters of calendar year 2022.

The county had not been able until recently to anticipate how much revenue it would gain through the tax because of processing through the regional partnership the county had entered into to make collection of the tax easier.

While the amount of the tax revenue was previously unknown, its destination wasn't. Because of an earlier agreement between the Supervisors and School Board, the revenue will go to the school system's capital improvement fund.

Massie Supervisor Andy McCready asked Newby how much money in carry over funding the school system was able to add to the capital fund. She responded, $116,591.

McCready said that gives the school system a $1.7 million "pot of money" to make improvements and maintenance repairs on schools.

"That is a real success story, that agreement between the Board of Supervisors and the School Board that has survived now approaching ten years," he said.

The agreement basically states money saved by the school system at the end of the fiscal year will be re-appropriated back to them for use on capital improvement needs.

The carryover funds coupled with the cigarette tax revenue to address some of the building and capital improvement needs of county schools is "a real win for all of us," McCready stated.

"We ought to be really proud that agreement made many years ago has survived and thrived," he said.

Following the public hearing, McCready noted the lack of comments must mean "the public is pretty well satisfied with the financial management of the county."

Public hearing planned on future of county's old jail in Pulaski

By MIKE WILLIAMS
The Patriot

The Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing in October to hear comments on the possibility of the county transferring ownership of the old county jail property to its real estate arm, the Economic Development Authority.

The old county jail, located on East Main Street in Pulaski, was mentioned in the Sept. 20 meeting of Pulaski Town Council, reported on last week by The Patriot.

When asked by a councilmember about the status of the jail, Town Manager Darlene Burcham replied that town staff had continued to advise the county the building is not in compliance with town building codes.

"The last conversation that I had with the County Administrator, he indicated that they plan to demolish the building. I don't know what the timeline is as it relates to that. I did ask him in the meantime to at least remove the vines off the building and to repair the roof which has been a constant code enforcement issue. They've been given a deadline to respond on those issues, or we'll have to proceed with a summons," Burcham continued.

At this past Monday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors, County Administrator Jonathan Sweet said he had recently been on the roof of the jail building and had observed the last time the building's fire extinguishers had been certified was in the early 2000s.

"That's when the jail discontinued being of quality use to the county," he said, noting the EDA is probably the best repository for the property.

Before a vote on the hearing, Massie Supervisor Andy McCready said that while the jail had not been used to house inmates since the early 2000s, the facility had been functioning as offices for the regional drug task force for a number of years.

"That is a very important function of the county," McCready said, noting the offices are predominantly located up front in the old sheriff's offices.

"The building is not vacant and is a secure building with law enforcement officers in it. I certainly have not heard any situations where we've had people breaking into the old jail so it must be secure," McCready continued.

Continuing the back and forth on code violations, earlier in the day Monday, Sweet sent an email to Burcham asking for her "assistance with respect to code violations that are affecting the image and perception of the town and ultimately the county" pertaining to the town's former sewage plant facility between Dora Highway and Route 99.

"The former town sewage plant facility has been sitting in

The Commitment to America

In less than two short years, unified Democrat control of the Federal Government has diminished our country in ways that would astound even a pessimist. Inflation has risen to levels not seen in forty years. Gas prices hit record highs earlier this year. More than two million illegal immigrants have been encountered at the southern border this fiscal year before it has even ended, not counting the significant number that have evaded detection.

Each of these crises has been created or made worse by policies promoted by President Biden and his party's majorities in the House and Senate.

Morgan Griffith

9th District Representative

President Biden and the liberals in Congress wreaked havoc on the economy by pouring trillions of dollars into

it. Too many dollars chasing too few goods is the classic formula for inflation, yet Democrats persisted. The good news is that these problems can be solved with the right policies and the right congressional majorities.

Republicans in the U.S. House of Representatives have been working on a plan to improve the economy, lower costs, and unleash the potential of our people and resources, and secure the country. Our plan is called the Commitment to America.

The Commitment to America contains four planks:

- An economy that's strong;
- A nation that's safe
- A future that's built on freedom; and
- A government that's accountable.

The Commitment to America calls for reducing wasteful spending to bring costs for essentials like housing and groceries under control. It also calls for tax and regulatory reform to grow wages, create good jobs, and stabilize the economy. After the pandemic and the Biden-created cost of living crisis, Americans are ready for a return to economic normalcy, and the Commitment to America would deliver it.

As part of the Commitment to America, we would unleash America's energy potential by encouraging domestic production and cutting the time of the lengthy permitting process for projects. More energy produced here would lower gas and utility prices. We would also promote manufacturing in our country and seek to bring our supply chains closer to home. These moves would insulate our economy from the whims of foreign powers.

The primary job of a government is to protect its citizens, and the Commitment to America demands that the Federal Government do this job better than it has under an inept and ideologically driven Biden Administration. We would give immigration enforcement officers the tools they need to secure the border, including money to finish the wall. We would also take aim at the perverse incentives in government policy that encourage illegal immigration, such as "catch and release" letting apprehended migrants stay here.

In the Commitment to America, law enforcement officers are supported with no risk of defunding them, and threats to public safety like fentanyl are treated with appropriate seriousness.

As part of the Commitment to America, we would expand the freedom and choices open to Americans. This includes health care. Access to telehealth would be improved, offering more opportunities for care in rural and remote areas like many in Virginia's Ninth Congressional District. We would focus on bringing transparency and competition to health care, driving down costs without sacrificing medical innovation.

Finally, the Commitment to America would bring much-needed accountability to the Federal Government. Despite Congress' constitutional obligation to conduct oversight, Democrats have chosen to look the other way no matter how incompetently or dishonestly the Biden Administration behaves. That would end under Republican leadership.

The Commitment to America is a straightforward, focused plan to improve the way Washington works in order to better serve the citizens of our country. President Biden may oppose it, but he will have to explain why his approach is the better one despite the various failures under his leadership.

Common Sense Has Returned to the Commonwealth

To the editor,

For 5 Months in 2021, parents, pastors, and a large group of very concerned residents of our great county stood month after month pleading with our county's School Board and Superintendent to reject the "Transgender Model Policy" coming from the Department of Education.

The policy clearly created challenges for all students in county schools!

We left the August meeting disappointed, to say the least as four of our five elected School Board members voted in favor of policies that do not reflect the values of our largely conservative county!

Our disappointment was turned into relief when Virginia Governor Glenn Youngkin, through the current Department of Education put new and more "common sense" policies in place.

Simply stated:

- *Students will be identified by their sex corresponding with their biological records.
- *Boys will use boys' restrooms and locker rooms. Girls will use girls' restrooms and locker rooms.
- *Faculty cannot conceal students' gender discussions from students' parents.

God does hear and answer prayer!

Many parents, students, pastors and, yes, teachers are relieved!!!

Truly, common sense has returned to the Commonwealth!!

Contract with America: The sequel

By CAL THOMAS,
Tribune Content Agency

House Republican leaders have announced a plan they are calling a "Commitment to America" in time for the November election and presumably the presidential contest two years from now.

In unveiling the plan, House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-CA) has the party's priorities right. The question is whether the Republican Party can survive the familiar and expected Democrat and media onslaught we have seen before, the one that claims the GOP will end Social Security and Medicare and harm children.

The Commitment to America plan promises to reduce government spending - the main driver of debt which accompanies record high inflation - control the Southern border and the migrants and drugs pouring in, as well as attack violent crime. These issues have worked well for Republicans in the past. The problem has been sustaining them against opposition from Democrats, much of the media and interest groups that would later be characterized as "the swamp."

It would be helpful if McCarthy and his colleagues would tell us which government programs they will cut, but perhaps they don't wish to telegraph anything to prevent Democrats from mischaracterizing the plan. Not that they won't anyway.

In this "sequel" to the Newt Gingrich (R-GA) and Dick Armey (R-TX) "Contract with America," Republicans are again promoting some of the same ideas that created their first House majority in 40 years. The 1994 contract had many things going for it, but chief among them was everyone could understand it. The contract contained 10 promises and was reduced to the size of a full-page ad in the then widely distributed TV Guide magazine. Voters could also carry copies in their wallets and purses.

Not all of the contract's objectives were achieved, including congressional term limits and a constitutional amendment to force balanced budgets, but those that did were astoundingly successful.

While Democrats screamed like scalded dogs and promoted doomsday scenarios, President Bill Clinton correctly gauged the mood of the country, declaring "the era of big government is over." If only.

The Clinton-Gingrich welfare reform bill was a major achievement of the contract. The left claimed poor people would starve. They didn't. Most of the able-bodied among them found jobs, which benefited them and the country.

Taxes were cut and in 1998 the federal budget was balanced and stayed balanced through 2001. Hard as it is to believe with today's $30 trillion-dollar debt, the country experienced a surplus of $236 billion in 2000.

Economic growth was 4 percent higher from 1997 through 2000 and unemployment rates, which had been above 7 percent at the beginning of the decade, fell to less than 5 percent in 1997. By the end of 2000, unemployment was under 4 percent.

For three straight years - from 1997 through 1999 - the economy produced more than 3 million jobs, a record.

It is undeniable that the contract worked.

The new list of Republican goals will work, too, if they are implemented, because they are rooted in the history of what has worked before - lower taxes, less spending, personal responsibility and accountability, empowering parents, not teachers unions.

President Biden is no Bill Clinton. The Democratic Party has been taken over by the hard left and they are not about to compromise on anything, from social issues to "climate change."

Only if Republicans win the Congress and the White House does the GOP "Commitment to America" have a chance to fully succeed. As in 1994, the party has the issues on its side - from previously mentioned inflation and a declining stock market that is hurting the savings of retirees, to an uncontrolled border, violent crime and a cultural fabric that seems to many conservatives to be coming apart.

If Republicans can't win on these issues they can expect and deserve to be committed by voters to years of irrelevancy.

Biden's Migrant Crisis Hits the Blue States

The nation is having a contentious debate over whether illegal migrants coming over the Southern border should be transported further inland, and if so, where and by whom.

Should they stay in San Antonio or end up in New York City, get bussed to a rural town no one has heard of, or get flown to one of the most desirable summer spots in the country?

Although this debate has generated much heat and is of great interest to the local authorities involved, it is really beside the point.

The crux of the matter is that the Biden administration dismantled or downgraded every policy that had established control over the Southern border under his predecessor and is directly responsible for the record number of illegal immigrants flooding into the country. If the influx wasn't so large, there'd be fewer migrants to sign up for the bus trips north and east to blue cities sponsored by Texas and Arizona.

Everyone should agree that it'd be much better if Biden reversed field and sought to control the border. Texas and Arizona would no longer be getting inundated, and therefore would have less incentive to send the migrants further inland. If that were the case, places like Washington, D.C., and New York City wouldn't be receiving thousands of new migrants and wouldn't have to declare emergencies and request the National Guard to help cope.

If the border states are treating migrants as "pawns," give them fewer pieces on the board. If they are engaged in unworthy "stunts," remove the incentive to make theatrical gestures in the first place. Reduce the temperature by controlling the problem at the source.

The truth of the matter is that prior to Texas and Arizona undertaking their programs -- and DeSantis adding his attention-grabbing flights to Martha's Vineyard -- illegal immigrants were already getting moved around the country, with the assent of the Department of Homeland Security. The federal government gives migrants permission to travel within the country, and then private organizations get them on buses to go to their preferred destinations.

Does anyone think this is how our immigration system should work?

Of course, a Biden crackdown at the border is not in the offing. The administration is steadfastly dishonest about the border. Vice President Kamala Harris says the border is "secure," and any problems only result from "a broken immigration system." Well, yes, the border is secure in the sense that the Mexican equivalent of the 10th Mountain Division isn't going to march over it any day now, but there is no serious effort to exclude the historic tide of migrants.

Those Pesky Presbyterian Preachers

The Great Awakening of the middle 1700’s was an evangelical movement taking place in England and Scotland, which eventually arrived in the American Colonies. It was a revitalization of religious piety which first appeared in America among the Presbyterians in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

In Colonial times, Presbyterians were considered dissenters from the established Church of England. They mistrusted the British colonial power and resisted the Crown’s interference in their right to religious freedom. From the New England colonies to the Carolinas many Presbyterian churches were seized to quarter British troops or damaged by those loyal to the Crown. The animosity between the Crown and “Presbyterian religious dissenters” in part influenced the British to regard the American Revolution a “Presbyterian Rebellion.”

Perhaps one of the better-known influencers of the American Revolution was John Witherspoon, an evangelical Presbyterian minister trained at the University of Edinburg in Scotland.

Witherspoon’s reputation as an evangelical minister reached the shores of America where the College of New Jersey (now known as Princeton University) was searching for a new president. Since the college’s primary mission was training ministers, Witherspoon was their ideal candidate. He declined their first offer in 1766, but arrived in August of 1768 with his wife, five children and a generous donation of 300 books for their library.

It is said that …”the many books he added to the college’s library gave the students a wide range of contemporary literature, including works by authors with whom he had engaged in public dispute.” He put an academic emphasis on developing an educated clergy and encouraged his students in the practice of Common Sense Philosophy.

“Witherspoon saw no conflict between faith and reason; he encouraged students to test their faith by experiment and experience. He applied the test of common sense to any proposition, reducing it to its simplest terms which was important in the development of our national character.”

As a contemporary of George Washington, Witherspoon earned a highly esteemed reputation for developing men of courage and character. Washington wrote of his glowing admiration in a letter to his adopted son regarding the college: “No college has turned out better scholars or more estimable characters.”

One Nation Under God

By Danielle Reid

Witherspoon’s influence ranged beyond the hallowed halls of higher education. He instructed his students, without hesitation or apology, in both politics and religion. “It is in the man of piety and inward principle, that we may expect to find the uncorrupted patriot, the useful citizen, and the invincible soldier. God grant that in America true religion and civil liberty may be inseparable and that the unjust attempts to destroy the one, may in the issue tend to the support and establishment of both.”

Witherspoon practiced what he preached to the students by wholeheartedly supporting the national cause of liberty. He became a leading member of the Continental Congress, and was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. As a result of his influence, twelve of fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence were Presbyterian. Other Presbyterian ministers who were influenced by him supported the war effort as chaplains and soldiers, and others encouraged their congregations from their pulpits.

During his tenure as Princeton’s president, he taught a future US President (James Madison, class of 1771 who is also considered the “chief architect of the Constitution”), nine cabinet officers, 21 senators, 39 congressmen, three justices of the Supreme Court, and 12 state governors! Several other Presbyterian US Presidents, although not instructed by Witherspoon, were Woodrow Wilson, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Ronald Reagan.

Witherspoon strongly admonished his peers who might try to suggest that religion had no place in American government. We should take the words of this wise minister and statesman to heart, especially in our current anti-religious society. “That he is the best friend to American liberty, who is most sincere and active in promoting true and undefiled religion, and who sets himself with the greatest firmness to bear down profanity and immorality of every kind. Whoever is an avowed enemy of God, I scruple not to call him an enemy of his country....”

To the British, the Presbyterian ministers were pesky pastors who stirred up dissent against the Crown. But to the Colonists, these pastors of the “Black Robe Regiment” were the heroes of freedom-loving Americans.

As inheritors of such a great nation, we should be grateful to those pesky Presbyterian preachers who boldly fought for our God-given liberties and instructed their congregations regarding the right of freedom of religion.

the “Big Lie” about the border, they don’t dare to contradict it, even when they are yelping in pain about having to deal with migrants.

On CNN over the weekend, New York City Mayor Eric Adams called the migrant situation “a humanitarian crisis,” yet refused to call out the maestro of this debacle. Asked by Jake Tapper whether it’s a crisis that needs more attention from the Biden administration, Adams knew he couldn’t go there. “No,” he said. “I believe it’s a crisis that needs more coordination from our country.”

An estimated 1.35 million illegal immigrants have entered the country since Biden’s inauguration, and they aren’t leaving any time soon.

Biden officials don’t want to stop the flow; they just want to manage it better. Asked by Bret Baier of Fox News earlier this year whether the administration seeks to reduce illegal immigration, DHS Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas said, “It is the objective of the Biden administration to make sure that we have safe, orderly, and legal pathways for individuals to be able to access our legal system.”

In other words, the Biden administration may not want migrants showing up in Martha’s Vineyard, but there will be plenty of newcomers settling all over the United States, in a never-ending flow.

lows the Commonwealth to mobilize resources and equipment needed for response and recovery efforts. Virginians should be prepared for the potential of severe rainfall, flooding, wind damage, tornadoes, and other storm-related impacts.

The Virginia Emergency Support Team (VEST) is actively monitoring the situation and coordinating resources and information to prepare for this storm. The Virginia Emergency Operations Center (VEOC) will coordinate preparedness, response, and recovery efforts with local, state, and federal officials.

Recommendations for Virginians

Make a plan. Plan in advance a route to a safe place, how you will stay in contact with family and friends, and what you will do in different situations. Additional planning resources are available at <https://www.vaemergency.gov/prepare/make-a-plan/>.

Prepare an emergency kit. For a list of recommended emergency supplies to sustain your household before, during, and after the storm visit: VAemergency.gov/emergency-kit.

Stay informed. Virginians should follow the Virginia Department of Emergency Management on Twitter and Facebook for preparedness updates and their local National Weather Service office for the latest weather forecast, advisories, watches or warnings. Download the FEMA app on your smartphone to receive mobile alerts from the National Weather Service. Power outages are always a concern during weather events—make sure you have a battery-operated radio available so you can still receive life-saving alerts.

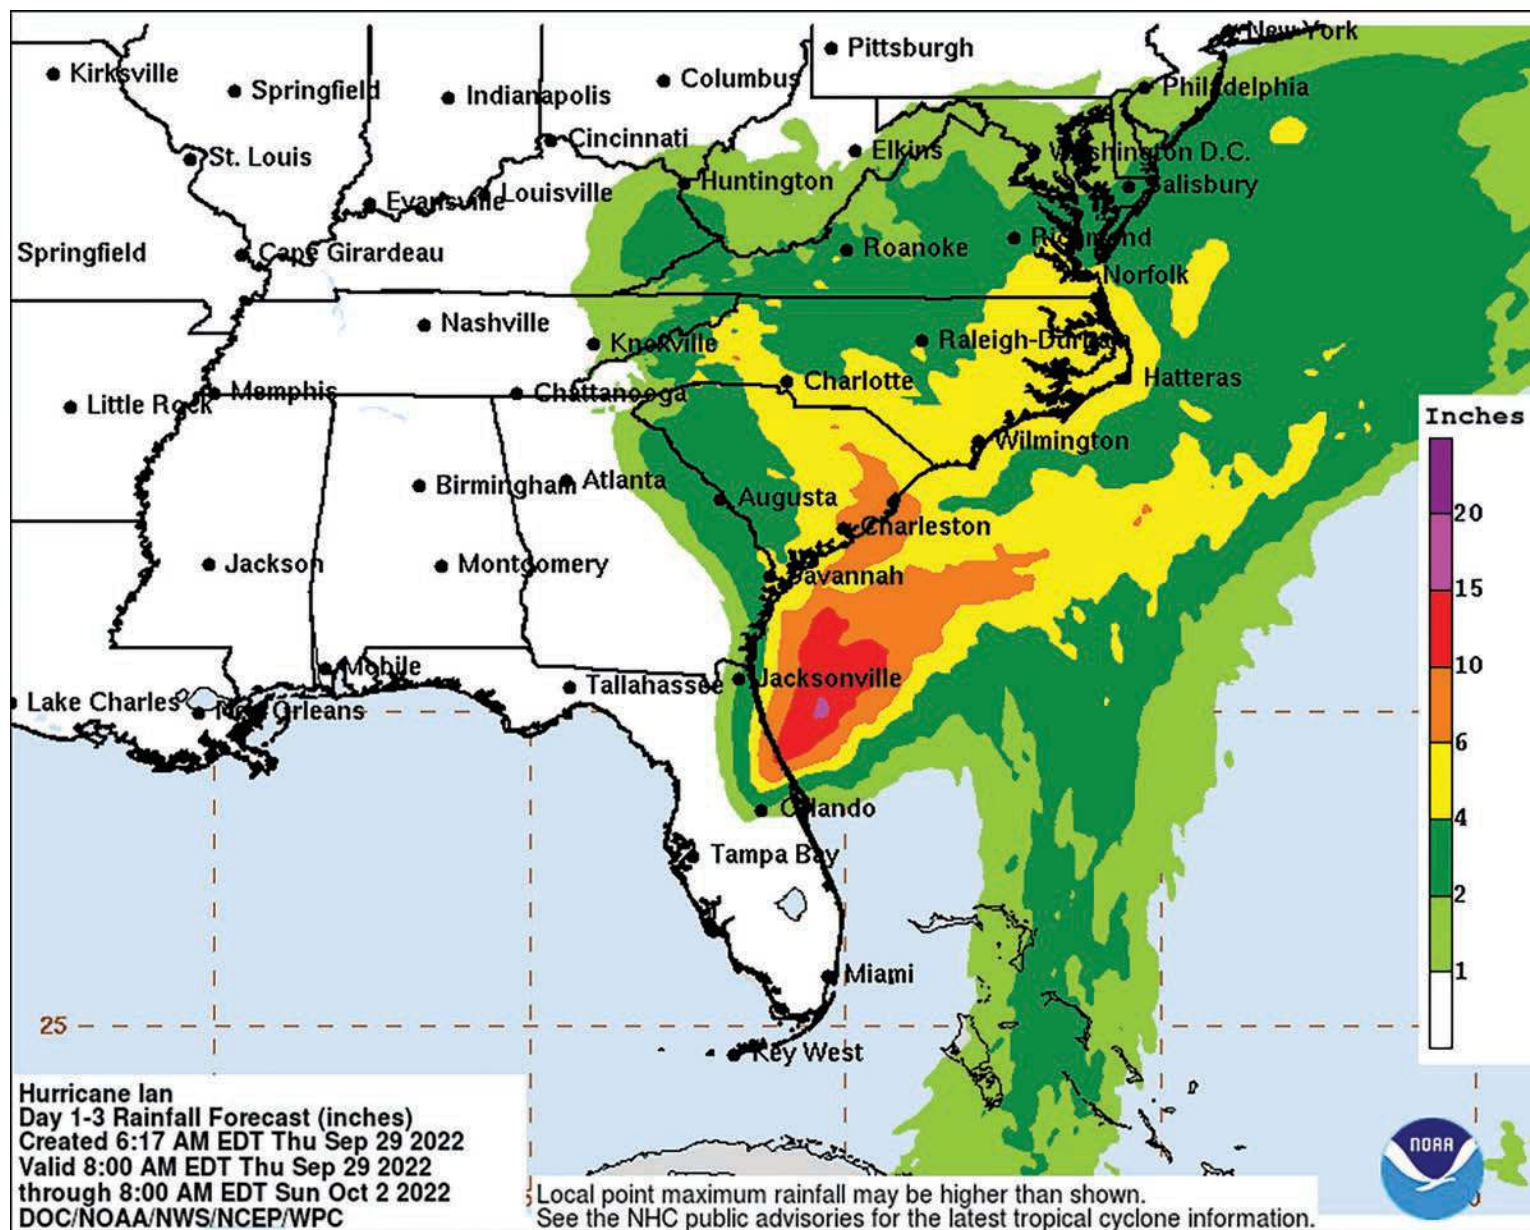

For more information about preparing your business, your family, and your property against hurricane threats visit: VAemergency.gov/hurricanes and ready. gov/hurricanes.

LOVE comes to the Town of Pulaski

By WILLIAM PAINE
The Patriot

Just after noon Tuesday September 27, several local high-profile individuals congregated near the corner of Dora Highway and Washington Avenue in Pulaski to officially recognize the newly installed Love sculpture. Town and county staff and elected officials came to this ceremony, along with members of the Pulaski County Chamber of Commerce.

Sculptures or signs featuring the letters L, O, V, E have sprung up throughout Virginia, as a way of celebrating the 50th anniversary of the “Virginia is for Lovers,” tourism logo, which first appeared in 1970.

Pulaski On Main is the organization responsible for bringing this latest Love sign to Pulaski. Tammy Parks, who teaches art classes at New River Community College, oversaw the project while Warren Crandall did the manufacturing work at Crandall Custom Metal in Pulaski.

The Town of Pulaski’s newest outdoor art features light blue letters made of metal and standing six feet in height. Each of the letters in the Love sculpture are filled with imagery representing the town. The letter L features images of the abundant wildlife found in and around town, while the letter O contains depictions of trains to stress the importance of the railroad to Pulaski.

The letter V contains intermingling metallic hands and feet representing the laborers who worked hard to make Pulaski prosper. The E is filled with images of bicycles, balls, paddles and more to depict the wide variety of sporting activities one can find in town.

Pulaski County Chamber of Commerce President Bill Cunningham acted as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion, with PCCC Executive Director Shannon Ainsley dutifully toting the oversized scissors and red ribbon.

Steve Critchfield, President of Pulaski On Main, was the first to be invited to speak in front of those gathered around the sculpture. Critchfield explained the significance of symbols within each of the four letters and also noted how artist Tammy Parks chose the light blue color of the sign because of its unique quality. No other love sign in the state was produced in this particular color.

Pat Huber, President of New River Community College, was also asked to address the crowd.

“NRCC in no way takes credit for the success in this,” she said

William Paine/The Patriot

A ribbon cutting ceremony served to mark the official arrival of the Town of Pulaski’s new Love Sign with a chuckle. “However ... Warren Crandall came through our machining and welding programs and Tammy Parks, as an art professor, is just dynamic. What you see here is a combination of art and very technical machining, welding, plasma cutting, and that’s what New River Community College is all about.”

Shannon Collins, Mayor of Pulaski, also addressed those gathered.

“Hopefully this will be a big tourism thing for us,” said Collins. “I love this sign. I mean, Virginia is for Lovers. I remember from when I was a kid. My dad had a ’67 Chev-elle. On the backseat was a towel that said, ‘Virginia is for Lovers.’ I’ve known it my whole life. So, I think we’re lucky to have a Love sign in our town. Warren Crandall did the laser or plasma cutting and we had it powder coated at Brown’s Powder Coating in Giles County. We’ve had it all done locally. I’m very grateful to be mayor. I love it here and I love you all. Thank you so much.”

With that, a red ribbon was stretched across the front of the Love sculpture, while all those assembled found a place adjacent to the large blue Love letters. The size of the crowd necessitated that most of those present ended up standing behind the sculpture.

Then the cue was given and Steve Critchfield cut the ribbon marking both the highlight and the end of the day’s ceremonies.

Bringing this Love sculpture to the Town of Pulaski has been somewhat of a drawn-out process. The previous Director of Pulaski on Main, Catherine Van Noy, first asked for community input on the proposed Love Sign in 2019 and meetings were held to discuss the design but these proposals had presumably concluded without any progress being made.

Then, three years after it was first proposed, Pulaski On Main produced their light blue version of the ubiquitous Love signs.

“It took us a couple of years to get this together,” said Critchfield. “Pulaski On Main had some changes in staffing and of course, the town had some changes in town management. I’m really grateful to the town and the county and the Community College.”

Critchfield also credited, Dylan Armes, the Interim Director of Pulaski On Main, for his efforts in making the project a success.

According to Critchfield, the Town of Pulaski provided $1,500 in seed money to begin the Love sign project. Pulaski On Main provided an additional $1,500 and an anonymous donor gave another $1,000 towards the project. All told the Love sign costs about $4,000.

In addition, Pulaski On Main expects to receive a state grant for $1,500, which will be reimbursed to the Town of Pulaski.

“This is the fourth Love sign in Pulaski County and we’re really excited about that,” said Pulaski Tourism Director Peggy White. “There’s one at Mountain 2 Island, one in Dublin at the church on 11 and one at Draper and now here.”

The new Love sculpture/sign is located on the west side of Washington Avenue across the street from the train depot on the same block as the Maplewood Plaza. The Love sign had originally been planned to have been erected on the east side of the street nearer to the depot. According to Critchfield, this idea was scrubbed because officials from VDOT were concerned that people would be tempted to view the sign while standing in the middle of Route 11.

Since there was more room to set the sculpture back from the road on the east side of the avenue, the current site was chosen.

Though not the original planned location, the Love sculpture is highly visible as its presently situated and according to all who have seen it, a very attractive addition to the Town of Pulaski.

Pulaski County Chamber hosts Lunch with Leaders

Members of Pulaski County Chamber of Commerce (PCCC), including Pulaski County High School Marketing students, gathered for Lunch with Leaders at the Pulaski County Innovation Center. This event consists of a round table panel facilitated by PCCC President, Bill Cunningham. Panelist for this Lunch with Leaders were marketing leaders, experienced in promoting businesses here in the South-west Virginia market. They shared their promotion strategies and tips, each using very different marketing approaches.

Panelist Brenda Eanes, Business Development Coordinator with SERVPRO, talked about their company's role in the community. Being a larger company, SERVPRO boasts a strong brand that is easily recognized. Their bright green company vehicles are eye catching, but Brenda explained that the SERVPRO team finds community involvement and networking very important. "We volunteer, we are there as SERVPRO supporting the community and what's going," said Brenda. A testament to this is that you will find a SERVPRO representative at most Chamber events, supporting their colleagues in the community.

Donna Travis said The Travis team uses their heart when marketing. The team hired a professional coach several years ago that recommended they connect with their clients, keeping connections open between their real estate needs. To do that, Donna said "We operate from our hearts and use that to connect with our clients," speaking of the customer appreciation events they host. An unintended benefit from this was the promotion from their clients who turned to social media to show appreciation for these events, tagging The Travis Team.

Adam Fariss, owner of Iron Heart Winery uses a more data driven approach to business promotion. "It is incredibly hard to get people to notice you in the beginning," said Adam. "You have to sit back and think: Where is my customer? How do they want to be communicated to? And about what? Just throwing money (for promotion) at the subject is not going to help. Your message needs to be targeted." He ended his comments with a humorous, "Good luck."

As the Chamber of Commerce redefines their mission to adapt to today's business needs, they are listening to their members and developing valuable programming such as Lunch with Leaders. This program fulfills the top three needs of members: business education, promotion, and networking.

Lunch with Leaders was sponsored by Truliant Federal Credit Union.

ARC awards $700,000 to Radford for East Main River and Rail Downtown Connector Trail project

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) today awarded $700,000 to the City of Radford for the East Main River and Rail Downtown Connector Trail. Congressman Morgan Griffith (R-VA) issued the following statement:

"The East Main River and Rail Downtown Connector Trail will help invigorate the City of Radford's downtown area and improve accessibility for pedestrians and cyclists. ARC's award of $700,000 provides a valuable boost to completing this project."

According to ARC, funding will construct a 1,750 linear-foot trail between Radford's commercial district and the New River recreation area, providing safe access for pedestrians and cyclists visiting Bissett Park and the river, as well as students at Radford University, to visit downtown Radford. The project will improve 40 businesses and bring 500 new visitors to town annually.

Cougars look to rebound vs. Hidden Valley

By MASON CLARK
The Patriot

After last week's humbling loss to Cave Spring for the first time in eight years, the Cougars are now 2-2 this year. It's not the end of the season to lose a game. Not at all. But it is important to bounce back from losses and not let one loss turn into multiple losses. That will be the goal for PCHS, as they will welcome the Hidden Valley Titans to Dobson Stadium on Friday night, for the Homecoming game.

History
Hidden Valley is a relatively young and new school. It was opened in 2002 due to Cave Spring High School being overcrowded. When it was opened, it was the first newly opened school in the immediate Roanoke Valley since the 1960's. While some wanted a newly built Cave Spring High, Roanoke County ultimately chose to make a new school for the southwest part of the county. Hidden Valley was chosen as its name because there was already a Hidden Valley Middle School in Roanoke County. And the name "Titans" was chosen by the student population in response to the recently released film "Remember the Titans" about TC Williams High School's 1971 state championship team.

The Titans have been good at times on the gridiron. All time, they are 101-117. Their first season was in 2002, and their first head coach may surprise you: Stephen Magenbauer, who would achieve local high school football legendary status at Salem High School years later, was the first coach at HVHS. They did not play us their first season. Then in 2003, we played them for the first time. Brandon Anderson led the way for us when we won 46-6 on the road. Then in 2004, they were much improved, as they were the only team to stop super sophomore Kevin Crouse, holding him to a career-low 44 yards and beat us 31-6. We beat them in 2005 with a 28-6 win, as Crouse got his redemption that night. The 2006 season wasn't as kind for us as they beat us 27-7.

Nubian Peak led the effort in 2007 and 2008, with 42-14 and 28-16 wins in those two seasons. At this point, we led the series

Pulaski County falls to upstart Cave Spring, 12-2

By MASON CLARK
The Patriot

Coming into Saturday night's battle against Cave Spring, it was widely expected that the Knights would be the best team PCHS has faced thus far. Cave Spring is a quickly improving program, and they looked the part, using a tenacious and stingy defense and a tough, opportunistic offense to break a seven-year losing streak in the series, downing the Cougars by a rare score of 12-2.

It wasn't the flashiest start for either team and looked like some old school Cave-Pulaski County games, with both offenses struggling to move the football and trading punts.

Pulaski County seemed to generate a little bit of offensive momentum with a long pass play to Marcus Reed that moved the ball from the 15 yard line to midfield, but it wouldn't lead to any points. Both teams went into the locker room with no points on the board. The Cougars had 76 yards of offense, the Knights 61. It began to feel like the first team to score would win.
The Knights got the ball in the second half and got it moving a bit. A 20-yard run moved the football into Cougar territory, and then they faked a quick screen and threw it deep. The Knights receiver caught the ball, eluded the Cougar defensive back and found pay dirt. The PAT was blocked, but it was 6-0 Knights early in the third.

The Cougar offense was forced to punt, and a good one by Nathan Pratt pinned Cave Spring back deep. The defense was able to get a stop and force Cave to punt, and the snap sailed over the punter's head before he alertly "fumbled" it out the back of the end zone to prevent Trevor Burton from recovering it for a touchdown. The score was 6-2, and it appeared the Cougs had some momentum of their own.

A 45-yard pass completion to Taner Mace would set the Cougars up deep in Knight territory. But a good play on the ball by the Knight cornerback would result in an interception that squandered the scoring opportunity in what turned out to be the only trip to the red zone of the night for the Cougars.
Cave Spring would then put together a lengthy drive that both chewed up clock and resulted in a back-breaking touchdown with about 6 minutes remaining in the contest. The PAT was again batted down, but the damage had been done.
Davis Neel and Reed caught a pass on the next Cougar possession, but quarterback Chris Gallimore would be sacked on a fourth down, turning the ball back over to the Knights.
The Knights did what no other team had done thus far: they kept the Cougars out of the end zone and virtually shut down the

LEGAL NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE

Hecate Energy, LLC proposes to construct and operate a 150 megawatt (MW) alternating current (AC) solar facility in Pulaski, County, Virginia. The project is located in an area west of State Route 100 near the Town of Dublin. The project will span 24 parcels of land, totaling approximately 1,641 acres. The preliminary design utilizes approximately 319,302 photovoltaic (PV) solar panels, as well as other related equipment that will cover roughly 1,305 acres of this land (Approximately 79.5%).

The projected plans to utilize industry-standard single-axis tracking technology, meaning the solar panels will track the movement of the sun. This system is a simple modular design consisting of tracker mounted panels and inverters that convert direct current (DC) to AC power. Low voltage wiring connects the inverters to the project substation where transformers boost the voltage to get it into the power grid. The approximate height of the solar panel arrays will be 15 feet.

The solar arrays associated with this project are eligible for a Permit by Rule (PBR) from the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). The purpose of this public participation is to (i) acquaint the public with technical aspects of the proposed project and how the standards and the requirements of 9VAC 15-60 (Small Renewable Energy Projects [solar] Permit by Rule) will be met, (ii) identify issues of concern, (iii) facilitate communication, and (iv) establish a dialogue between the owner or operator and persons who may be affected by the project.

A 30-day comment period in accordance with 9VAC 15-60-90(C) will begin on October 1 and end on October 30. Questions and comments may be sent to the following:

They got us back in 2009 when they beat us 35-14. Then in 2010, the Titans didn't win a game and we beat them 22-21 at home. They, like so many teams, won a close game against us in 2011 with a 13-10 win over the Cougars. They then beat us 14-10 in 2012, and this tied the series up at five wins apiece.

They soundly beat us on our senior night in 2013 with a 28-7 win, and then beat us handily in Stephen James' first season at the helm in 2014 by a score of 31-7. They led the series 7-5 by now. But we were able to rope off a few consecutive wins. Bryant Grubb set what was a new passing record with 266 yards in a 49-31 win in 2015. Hunter Thomas ran for 215 yards and 3 touchdowns in the 2016 matchup. Then in 2017, Kade Akers threw for a school record 350 passing yards, which still stands, and it was the first time in program history that two players had over 100 receiving yards in the same game when EJ Horton (146) and Mason Clark (119) did it. In 2018 the Cougars got a 49-21 win on Homecoming when Akers ran for a touchdown, threw a touchdown pass and had an interception return touchdown. 2019 was a stunning loss for the Cougars when the Titans beat them 35-14 with several key players out. Then in the spring season in 2021 Mark Dixon won his first game at home 48-7 led by Drew Dalton's 198 passing yards and 2 touchdowns, and last season John Lyman's two touchdown receptions weren't quite enough as we fell 28-20. That leaves the vaunted Cougar rushing attack. They made plays when they had to and played disciplined team defense to end a long losing streak in the series.

The plan for the Knights appeared to be simple; stop the run as much as possible and make Pulaski County throw the ball. I must admit I was very surprised with the defense of Cave Spring. After the previous several years, it's quite different to see the Knights playing physically like they are right now, as they have now allowed just 12 points in five games.

Gallimore completed 7 of his 12 pass attempts for 113 yards and ran for 22 yards, if sack yardage weren't included. Trevor Burton was held to 7 yards on 6 carries as the CS game plan series at 10-9 in favor of Pulaski County.

Something you'll notice when you look at this is that even in years where the Cougars have been successful, Hidden Valley has rarely been an easy win. They're one of few teams close to us in historic series numbers. It appears that Pulaski County may be the better team this year, but that hasn't always stopped the Titans from winning. Not letting their record and some of their schools fool us will be big.

Hidden Valley Preview

The Titans will enter Joel Hicks Field at 2-3 this season. They opened their season with a disappointing 37-0 loss to rival Cave Spring. Seniors Jaden LaTempa and Joey Strong each had 12 rushing yards in that game and Daniel Robinson had 27 receiving yards.

Quarterback Brayden Moore struggled that game hitting 6 of 15 passes for 65 yards.

They got into the win column the next week with a 39-36 win over William Byrd. Quarterback Brayden Moore was sensational that night, completing ten of eighteen pass attempts for 235 yards and four touchdowns. Joey Strong also threw a touchdown pass from 71 yards out on a trick play to Japhon English, and ran 8 times for 98 yards in addition to his 82 yards passing.

English finished with two catches for 95 yards and two TDs, Daniel Robinson had three catches for 76 yards and one TD, and Getz had three catches for 72 yards and three TDs.

They then had a thrilling come-from-behind win against Northside 32-29. Joey Strong continued his excellent play with 12 rush attempts for 81 yards and a touchdown, he passed for a touchdown and also returned an interception for a score to lead the Titans to a second straight win. They needed it, as they trailed the Vikings 21-7 in the fourth. Brayden Moore completed 6 of 13 passes for 87 yards and a score in that game.

Things haven't been as easy since then when they had the doors blown off by Glenvar by a score of 52-14 and then against a huge Franklin County Eagles squad, 47-14, including a 40-0 score at the half. For the Glenvar game, the Titan defense was gutted, as the Glenvar quarterback passed for 295 yards on 9 completions and 4 touchdowns, had a 100-yard receiver and 100-yard receiver, and returned a punt for a touchdown. Then in the Franklin County game, Moore and Getz teamed up for 2 touchdowns and 90 yards. But other than that, it wasn't much to speak of, as the Titans trailed the Eagles 40-0 at the break. They also turned it over a whopping six times.

With that, Moore leads the way at quarterback at 46 of 89 passing for 737 yards and 7 touchdown passes, with just 2 interceptions. Joey Strong is their leading rusher with 35 attempts for 269 yards (7.7 yards per attempt) and 2 touchdowns. He has also caught 12 passes for 198 yards, passed for 148 yards and 3 touchdowns, and interception return touchdown. He's their most versatile player. Jadon LaTempa also factors into the run game with 34 rush attempts for 179 yards and a touchdown. Jackson Getz is the man for the Titans receiving, with 12 catches for 227 yards and 6 touchdown receptions. Japhon English has 132 receiving yards and 3 touchdowns.

As a team, the Titans have 885 passing yards and 440 rushing yards. Their leading tackler on defense is Max Pardon, who has 44, while Joey Strong also contributes there with 31 tackles. The titans average 19.8 points a game and allow an average of 40.2 a game.

Pulaski County Preview

The Cougars are coming off a somewhat surprising loss to Cave

Spring. It was the first time the Knights have won in the series since 2014. These seniors were in fourth grade during that time. The Knights held what had been an efficient and explosive run game for the Cougars to 30 rushing yards, and that is excluding sack yardage. Let this be clear: the Cougars will not win many games, if any, with 30 rushing yards. Saturday night was the first game since 2019 against Salem that the Cougars didn't score a touchdown in a game and just the second time since 2013 against Courtland that the Cougs didn't reach the end zone.

The good thing is that the passing game stepped up last week. Gallimore had his best game passing so far this year with 113 yards through the air. The defense did some good things, and outside of a couple big pass plays, shut down the Knight offense pretty well.

Trevor Burton is coming off a tough night in which he didn't get the ball or yards as much as he usually does, as Cave Spring did everything conceivable to stop him. He will enter the game Friday with 60 rush attempts, 464 rushing yards, and 10 touchdowns. Chris Gallimore is now 12 of 23 passing for 194 yards on the year, over 8 yards per attempt and 16 per completion. He also has 206 rushing yards and 2 touchdowns. Brett Jones has run for a touchdown this season and averages over six yards per carry, while also catching 2 passes for 41 yards. Taner Mace has ran for 51 yards and caught 3 passes for 69 yards to lead the team in receiving. Zach Parker will return this week and averages 11 yards per rush attempt. In total, the Cougars have run for 929 yards, and passes for 194, giving them Cougars 1,123 yards of total offense on 184 plays. That's still good, but the average was hurt bad from the Cave Spring game.

The defense has been mostly good, but has at times been inconsistent. That is mostly against the pass, as Cave Spring passed for 145 yards. Against a pass-happy Titans team, this cannot happen.

Alan Fernandez, Diego Turner and Jack Allen have been good on the defensive line, rather rushing the passer or stopping the run. Trevor Burton, Evan Alger, Tyler Underwood and Nicholas Woolwine have done good at their linebacker spots, as teams have struggled to run the football on us. But the secondary has struggled at times, as Tennessee (154 pass yards), Bluefield (270 yards), and Cave Spring (145 yards) have had success throwing the ball. We will have to get better. The good thing is starting cornerback Zach Parker will return this week.

Nathan Pratt has punted and kicked well for the Cougars this year. Bryant Nottingham is already doing good kicking off for the Cougars. Pulaski County will be a heavy favorite to win Friday. But last week gives us a good reminder: never underestimate your opponent.

Bobcats top Demons to stay undefeated

By ELIZABETH KANIPE
The Patriot

Radford (4-0) hosted Christiansburg (3-0) Friday in a battle of unbeaten teams. Last year Christiansburg rolled over the Bobcats 63-0. Radford came to this game looking to avenge that lopsided loss and prove they belong in the top tier of teams in Virginia.

The Blue Demons took the first possession and were forced to punt after gaining one first down. Radford gained no yards in their first possession and returned the ball to Christiansburg at their own 44 yard line. Christiansburg rotated running backs and attacked the Radford defense. Kendric Long got the majority of the carries and scored on a 1 yard run with 4:58 left in the first quarter.

Radford answered quickly. Landen Clark completed passes to Parker Prioleau, Marcell Baylor and TJ Aursby to get the ball to the Blue Demon 11 yard line. After a Prioleau run for no gain, Clark hit RB David Woodward out of the backfield for the score tying the game at 7 all with 3:43 remaining in the first quarter.

Christiansburg failed to gain a first down with Radford's Charlie Davis having two tackles for losses and Christiansburg was forced to punt. Radford took over at their own 34. Clark hit Prioleau for a 15 yard gain and a 15-yard sideline penalty on Christiansburg moved the ball to the Blue Demon 34. Clark then hit Baylor for an acrobatic catch in the endzone to give Radford a 14-7 lead with 53 seconds left in the first quarter.

Both teams exchanged punts after failing to gain first downs and Christiansburg took over at their 31 yard line. The Blue Demons took to the ground and alternated between four running backs and eventually scored from 5 yards out on a run from Jayron Thompson. The score was now tied at 14 with 7:29 left in the 2nd quarter.

Radford quickly responded. Clark hit Max Kanipe for a 21 yard completion and then ran for another 15 yards. After a pair of incomplete passes, Clark hit Baylor again for a 28 yard score with 4:08 left in the first half. Vance Steele hit the extra point which became the deciding point. Radford led 21-14.

The Blue Demons then drove to midfield where the drive stalled when Radford's Woodward tackled Long for a loss on 4th and 1. Radford's Clark hit Prioleau for a 17 yard gain and then ran for another 17 yard gain. Radford got to the 16 yard line before trying a fake field goal attempt. Clark rolled to his right and the pass fell just short of Owen Dunn, ending the half.

Radford received the halftime kickoff but fumbled the return where the Blue Demons recovered at the Radford 34 yard line. Christiansburg took to the ground again and Thaxton Henley carried it 8 times for 27 yards in the series. QB Tanner Evans scored from 4 yards out to bring the Blue Demons with 1 point. Spencer Conner attempted the PAT but Radford's Charlie Davis broke through the line and blocked the kick to preserve the Radford lead.

After that scoring drive both teams moved the ball but neither was able to finish for a score. Radford drove to the Blue Demon 14 yard line and after a penalty, Radford missed a field goal attempt on 4th and 15 with under 5 minutes left in the game. Christiansburg started moving the ball again but Davis made a huge tackle for loss again on fourth down to end the Blue Demon drive.

Christiansburg took possession with 59 seconds left with one last chance to score to win the game. QB Evans had yet to complete a pass and his first attempt was broken up by Prioleau. His next attempt was intercepted by Clark giving him his 3rd interception of the year and sealed the Bobcat victory.

Clark completed 20 passes on 35 attempts for 274 yards and 3 TDs. He also rushed for 106 yards on 19 carries. Baylor had 109 yards on 8 catches and 2 TDs. Prioleau had 9 receptions for 102 yards. Christiansburg finished with 243 yards rushing but was held to zero yards passing on 7 attempts.

Radford will travel to Alleghany (4-1) on the 30th looking to remain undefeated against another run oriented offense. Alleghany's only loss came two weeks ago against Cave Spring.

Taming The Tongue

Part III

In a moment of anger words that wound can be blurted out. Most of the time, it is because the speakers put their tongues in motion, before putting their minds in gear.

The bible teaches us to be slow to speak, and slow to wrath. And if we are slow to speak, and slow to wrath, we'll have time to think, before we speak.

Another figure of speech about words, is "eating our words." It means to admit when we are wrong in what we have said. Some of us have said, I'd never do that, and later found ourselves doing what we said we wouldn't do. And we have to eat our words.

For example, I once said I would never talk incessantly about my kids. But then later, when I had kids of my own, that went right out the window. We love to brag on our kids because we are proud of them.

Just as a small rudder can control the direction of a large ship, likewise the tongue can control our emotions. The tongue is a very small member of the body. Most of the time it's not even seen, hiding in our mouths, but unleashed, an unruly tongue can do more damage than can ever be undone.

Then James uses the example of the damage a small fire can do. Even a small spark of fire can result in a great forest fire, destroying hundreds and thousands of acres of woodland and wildlife. The tongue is also a fire, a world of evil among the parts of the body.

An unruly tongue corrupts the whole person, and can set a whole life on fire, for it is set on fire by Hell itself. When sparks fly, fire storms erupt, creating a blazing inferno that leaves scars, pain and heaps of ashes.

It has been said that great minds discuss ideas; average minds discuss events, and small minds discuss people.

Verses 7 & 8. "For every kind of beasts, and of birds, and of serpents, and of things in the sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed of mankind. But the tongue can no man tame; It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison."

Lions can be tamed. Tigers can be tamed. Humans have the ability to tame all kinds of fierce animals, but we can't seem to tame the tongue. It is the most unruly member of the body.

A tongue, if it's not controlled, can spew out poisonous venom and inflict great pain and harm.

And there's no sting of a rattlesnake that can do as much damage as one wagging tongue.

No man can tame the tongue, but God is not a man and God can. If our words come from God the Holy Spirit, they will be true and pure. If the source of our words is the flesh, they will be deceitful and impure.

Brian Bill said that a woman once came to John Wesley and said she knew what her talent was, and she said, "I think my talent from God is to speak my mind." Wesley replied, "I don't think God would mind if you buried that talent."

In Verses 9-12 James then says this. "Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God. Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not so to be. Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? Either a vine, figs? So can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh.”

It looks like it would be impossible to bless and curse out of the same mouth, but yet it does happen in many instances. A fountain never puts forth fresh water and salt water. So it should be inconceivable for the tongue to send forth both righteousness and rumors; or truth and lies.

If it does, then something is dreadfully wrong with the fountain from which it issues. The fountain has become contaminated, and what comes forth is putrid & impure.

To bless God in a Church Worship Service and then to speak abusively to or about someone outside of Church shows that the heart is not really right with God.

Matthew 12:36 says, “We shall give an account of every idle word that we speak, in the day of judgment.”

Here are a few examples of tongues that need to be sanctified. A condemning tongue. A condescending tongue. A controlling tongue. A filthy talking tongue. A lying tongue. A sharp tongue. A wagging tongue. A gossiping tongue. A backbiting tongue. An insulting tongue. A long tongue. And there are probably many more.

Let me ask you a question. What adjectives could best be used to describe your tongue? I hope it's not any of the ones we just mentioned that describes a tongue that needs to be sanctified.

Do you have a truthful tongue? A civil tongue? An eloquent tongue? An articulate tongue? A gentle tongue? A tongue that blesses others? Tell the truth and shame the devil.

A gossipy woman came up to her Pastor one day and told him she was going to lay her tongue on the altar. And her Pastor said, “Sister, the altar isn't long enough.”

James 3:13. “Who is a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you? Let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.”

A wise person knows that they can't tame another person's tongue; but is able to bridle his or her own tongue, with God's help.

Our lives should back up what we say we are, with our words. We ought to practice what we preach.

Those whose words are designed to bring attention to themselves, and try to hog up glory that belongs to God are very unwise. Because God will not share His glory with anyone

Sin a barrier that keeps us from knowing Jesus

From the writings of the Rev. Billy Graham

Q: I want to believe the stories of the Bible but they're so ancient. It seems unreasonable to accept these wonders as reality. - S.D.

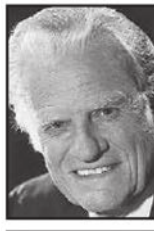

A: Seldom do we doubt the stories of redemption that captivate us nearly every day. Whether it's someone being rescued from a fire or a flood, we praise the rescuers and sigh with relief for the victims wonderfully saved! The outcomes of rescue missions become part of history, even those that happened before we were born. We watch documentaries and movies of mighty battles down through the ages and believe them not because we were there as witnesses; we believe these stories by faith.

Where does this idea of redemption come from? Redemption is as old as time itself. It's a fact of history. But people still doubt. The greatest redemption occurred over 2,000 years ago and its reality never grows old. Why? Because Jesus came to Earth to rescue mankind from sin.

Down through the centuries, people haven't wanted to believe believe Satan's lie over God's promise, and now all humanity must be saved from sin by Christ's sacrifice on the cross?"

Whether or not we believe doesn't change the truth. The problem is that human nature doesn't exercise faith in the truth of God's Word. God put within each soul a longing to know Him. But sin is a barrier that keeps us from knowing Jesus as personal Savior and Lord. We're bound by this barrier of sin unless we are freed from it. This is gloriously accomplished by the saving grace of Jesus Christ (Ephesians 2:8).

An Uncomfortable Situation

Dear Dave,
I need your advice. I just accepted a new job in a field I love three weeks ago. Yesterday, I was recruited and offered a position by a huge company for the same kind of position, and they pay more than twice what I'm making now. I did not send in a resume, or fill out an application for the job that was just offered. They came directly to me, and it was a huge surprise. I don't have a contract with my current employer, but they are good people and I want to handle things well and do the right thing. Can you help?

Dear Jenny,
Long story short, I think you take the new job. Now, how do you handle this with your present employer? With total honesty, respect and a lot of gratitude. Walk into your boss's office, and lay out the whole situation truthfully. Let them know what has happened, how it happened, and while you feel awful about how things worked out, you had no intention of misleading them or causing problems. On top of all that, promise to do everything possible to make the transition as easy as you can.

In uncomfortable scenarios, it's always a good idea to try to put yourself in the other person's shoes. Let's pretend you own a business, and you just hired a young lady. A few weeks later, someone comes in, completely out of the blue, and offers her more than double what she's making with you. I can tell you what would happen at my company. I'd tell her to take it. I'm serious. I mean, as an employer I'm certainly not going to double her income that quickly. And while I'd be surprised, and a little disappointed, I'd be happy she has the chance to take such a big step up.

Dave Says

If an organization cares about its people, and one of those team members has the opportunity to significantly increase their income—and they're not breaking a contract or promise in the process—this type of scenario is perfectly reasonable, even if it's a little inconvenient for the current employer in the short term. I know it'll be uncomfortable for you, Jenny, but they can't realistically expect you to pass up a chance to do what you love at double-plus what you're making now.

Congratulations!

— Dave
