Stafford, Reeves win races for supervisor in Pulaski Co.

By MIKE WILLIAMS The Patriot

Voters in Pulaski County on Tuesday elected two new members to the Board of Supervisors, while voters in Radford made big changes in the city's council and school board.

Assistant School Superintendent Chris Stafford, running as an independent won the Cloyd District seat on the Board of Supervisors. He collected 1,378 votes (56 percent) to incumbent Republican Adam Hall's 1,067 (43 percent) in final, unofficial vote totals.

In Robinson District, incumbent Republican Jeff Reeves won with 1,047 votes (61 percent) to independent challenger Colette Hash with 653 votes (38 percent).

Mike Mooney, a Republican running unopposed, collected 1,630 my Clark, was the second-largest votes (94 percent) to win the Massie District seat on the Board of Supervisors.

Since the supervisor races were Special Elections, all three winners on Tuesday began their terms immediately.

Elsewhere in Pulaski County, voters in the towns of Pulaski and Dublin elected members of their town councils and - in Pulaski gave a popular mayor another term.

In Dublin, incumbent councilmembers Debbie Lyons, Steve Crigger and Debbie Hager - all running unopposed - were elected to new four-year terms. Lyons led the way with 293 votes (34 percent), while Crigger received 271 votes (32 percent) and Hager collected 267 votes (31 percent.)

In Pulaski, incumbents Brooks Dawson and Tyler Clontz were returned to council - both with no opposition. Dawson was the leading vote-getter with 1,305 (36 percent), while Clontz received 987 votes (27 percent)

A newcomer to council, Jerevote-getter on Tuesday with 1,177 votes (33 percent). Clark will take the place on council of longtime Councilman Lane Penn who chose not to seek another term.

Council seats in Pulaski are four-year terms.

Also in Pulaski, Mayor Shannon Collins won re-election to a second two-year term with no opposition. Collins received 1,709 votes (93 percent).

In Radford, voters selected three new city council members and re-elected one incumbent.

Seth Gillespie and Jessie Foster were elected to four-year terms. Gillespie was the top vote-getter among council candidates collecting 2,127 votes (20 percent), while Foster - an incumbent seeking re-election - received 1,715 (16 percent).

Kellie Banks Artrip and Bobby Davis Jr. were elected to finish the unexpired terms of two former councilmembers - Onassis Burress and who resigned their seats prior to the end of their terms. Artrip received 1,702 votes (16 percent) and Davis collected 1,491 (14 percent) votes.

Failing in their election bids were Chad McClanahan, Janiele

Pulaski County High to get new exterior doors, windows

By MIKE WILLIAMS The Patriot

Pulaski County High School will soon get new exterior doors and windows, following awarding of the bid on the replacement project Wednesday.

Plus, all contract employees with the school system will receive $1,000 bonuses in December.

The School Board voted unanimously Wednesday to award the window and door replacement project to G&H Contracting, Inc. for the lump sum of $1,620,000.

The funds for the project come from the Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief Fund (ESSER III), part of the federal American Rescue Plan

Act (ARPA) of 2021.

It was noted the award of this project will commit the remainder of all federal ESSER III grant funding awarded to Pulaski County Public Schools.

ESSER funds have been used for some other capital improvement projects within the school system.

Jess Shull, Director of Facilities, said Wednesday currently eight of the school division's top ten capital improvement projects are in progress or have been completed.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, the School Board approved paying the school system's 686 contracted employees the $1,000 onetime pandemic bonus payment.

ARPA funds from the state will cover $399,177 of the total $738,479 cost of providing the bonuses - including $52,479 in employer-paid FICA.

According to background information supplied, the school system currently has $360,934 in available federal ESSER II funds that have to be used by September 30, 2023.

These funds were originally budgeted for the ongoing cost of the school system's virtual academy instruction, but due to tightening the eligibility requirements for virtual students, those costs will be significantly less going forward than before.

Therefore, administration recommends utilizing $339,302 in Hamden and Charley Cosmato. McClanahan received 1,214 votes (11 percent), while Hamden received 753 votes (7 percent).

Cosmato, an incumbent who was earlier appointed to serve on council in an interim capacity, got into the race late and mounted a write-in candidacy. There were 781 write-in votes Tuesday.

Three new members of the school board were elected.

Gloria Boyd led all vote-getters with 2,138 votes (29 percent), followed by Chris Calfee with 1,882 (25 percent) and Jane Swing with 1,710 votes (23 percent). Ed Dickenson was the odd man out in Tuesday's voting, coming in fourth and receiving 1,609 votes (22 percent).

All three winning candidates were elected to four-year terms.

In the final race in Radford, Mayor David Horton won election to another term, collecting 2,481 votes (77 percent). He was unopposed in his re-election bid. However, there were 730 write-in votes (23 percent).

Rep. Morgan Griffith, a Republican, won a seventh term in Congress Tuesday, easily defeating his Democratic challenger, Taysha DeVaughan.

Griffith carried Pulaski County with 8,007 votes (74 percent) to 2,719 (25 percent) for DeVaughan.

DeVaughan did far better in Radford, gaining 46 percent of the vote (1,705 votes), but still lost to Griffith who gained 1,990 votes (54 percent).

Across the entire Ninth District, Griffith collected 180,935 votes (73 percent) to DeVaughan's 64,862 (26 percent).

Griffith actually led all winning candidates in Virginia's 11 Congressional District races by getting 73.44 percent of the votes cast in his race. Former Lt. Governor Don Beyer, a Democrat, in the Eighth Congressional District received 73.26 percent in his race.

Republicans flipped one Congressional seat in Virginia – in the Second Congressional District – and now Democrats hold a 6 to 5 edge in the state.

MEGAN KAYLIE ALTIZER

The world has lost a bright light and left heartbreak in its place. Megan Kaylie Altizer died by suicide on the last day of October. Her family and those who loved her sweet spirit are choosing not to let her final day define the 10,328 she shared with us. Megan was a daughter, sister, wife, cousin, niece, granddaughter, god-sister, friend, comedian, and confidant. She was a prolific artist, attended the Savannah College of Art and Design, and was a former police officer.

Megan was deeply troubled and battled mightily with severe depression, PTSD and alcohol addiction; but she was never, and will never be defined by those struggles. She was a creative soul and a virtual wizard in all things arts and crafts related. Among her extraordinary talents were painting, sewing, crochet, graphic design, needlework, cake decorating, baking, carpentry, calligraphy, sculpture, origami, and more. She was brilliant, beautiful, snarky, quick-witted, sly, sometimes loud, sometimes quiet, incandescent, inventive, silly, playful, curious about all things; but most of all, she was superlatively compassionate. Her megawatt smile and acerbic wit will be sorely missed.

Megan's family would like to tell anyone who struggles with mental illness, PTSD or addiction that seeking help and treatment for those conditions is an act of incredible courage-not at all one of weakness. In letters that she left behind, Megan shared that she had never felt brave enough to seek the care she needed. For the family and friends of those who share Megan's afflictions: be an advocate for those you love to seek professional help. Mental illness is a real, pervasive, and frequently invisible problem that most people encounter at some point or another. It is no less dire than any other life-threatening sickness. Stand up. Show up. Speak up for them. Be there even when they don't want you to be. Love is not passive. Left to cherish and learn from her time here are: her father, Terry Altizer; brother, Devin Altizer; godmother, Joy Smith; god-grandfather, Rev. Edward Smith (AKA the Boy Grand); husband, Mohammad Hyder Ali Shaik; uncle and aunt, Dennis and Cheryl Smith; grandfather, Don Smith; god-sister, LeeAnn Arnold, and her favorite canine companion, Nugget; and many

DONALD WAYNE CLARY Donald Wayne Clary, 60, passed away on Monday, November 7, 2022, at his home in Dublin after his years-long battle with a progressive neurological disease.

Don was born in September 1962 in Chase City, VA. He earned his bachelor's degree in chemistry from Hampden-Sydney College and his medical degree from Eastern Virginia Medical School, and he completed his residency at Roanoke Memorial Hospital in family medicine. He was a devoted, loving physician and a beloved husband, father, grandfather, brother, and friend.

Survivors include his loving wife of 28 years, Marie Barnes Clary; five children and their spouses: Jaime Barnes Graham and Jonathan, Robert Michael Barnes and LeAnn, Clayton Hollins Clary and Cassandra, Carolyn Elena Clary, and Donald Jacob Clary and Madeline; seven grandchildren: Blake, Kaitlyn, Cameron, Caleb, Annabelle, Elise, and Joy; four siblings and their spouses, Ronald Lee Clary, Jr., Thomas Ozlin Clary and Rhonda, Kenneth Eugene Clary and Amanda, and Carole Clary Griffin and Koy; as well as numerous other family members and friends. He was preceded in death by his parents, Ronald Lee Clary, Sr., and Carolyn Creedle Clary.

No funeral or service will be held in honor of his wishes. A celebration of life will be held with close family and friends at a later date.

AARON "KENNETH" PENNINGTON

Aaron "Kenneth" Pennington of Dublin, Virginia passed away on Tuesday, November 8, 2022 at the age of 88. Born January 31, 1934 in Lovern, West Virginia he was the son of the late Aaron and Bessie Pennington. His loving wife Evelyn Pennington, four brothers, four sisters and his grandson Andy Hoosier also preceded him in death.

He is survived by daughters and sons-in-law Susan Pennington of Dublin, VA, Mary Taylor (Scott Mabry) of Dublin, VA and Tina (Wayne) Hoosier of Radford, VA; grandchildren Wesley (Sarah) Taylor of Pulaski, VA, Jenna (Ethan) Edwards of Enon, OH and Becky Pennington of Pulaski, VA; great-grandchildren Peyton and Sadie Taylor, Kamiyah Hill, Zyhire Porter and Evelyn Edwards; siblings Dixie Garvin of Johnson City, TN, Lois Simmerman of Barren Springs, VA, Geraldine Roe of Kingsport, TN and numerous nieces and nephews.

Everyone who knew Kenneth felt his big heart and giving nature. He was involved in the Dublin Christmas Baskets for over forty years, helping those underserved in his community to celebrate with food and gifts for their families. He loved Christmas and all holidays spent with his family, and his home was known as the place everyone loved to gather.

Kenneth proudly served twenty-two years in the United States Air Force and achieved the rank of Master Sergeant. During his military service, he was employed with the fire department. Kenneth was also an Elder at the First Dublin Presbyterian Church and retired from employment with the Town of Dublin.

Kenneth was loved by all and will be greatly missed. Though wishful for more Earthly time with him, his family finds comfort in knowing that he has finally been reunited with his wife, Evelyn, and know that they are celebrating together. Funeral services will be held 11:00 AM - Monday, November 14, 2022 at the First Dublin Presbyterian Church (409 Church Street, Dublin) with Pastor Mary Ann Armbrister officiating. Interment will follow at the Southwest Virginia Veterans Cemetery, Dublin where he will receive full military honors. Veterans Day

On November 11 of each year, Americans honor the veterans who served to keep our country free.

The day was originally known as Armistice Day to mark the armistice ending World War I at 11 a.m. on November 11, 1918.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed a bill in 1954 officially proclaiming November 11 as Veterans Day to remember those who served not only in World War I but in all the wars our country has fought.

When our country is threatened and our freedom

From the beginning of the Republic, we have enjoyed the protection of the citizen soldier who leaves the comforts of home behind to defend our rights and then puts down his arms when the job is done. George Washington served as a model in this regard, but millions of Americans less well-remembered have done the same. It is our duty on Veterans Day to better remember them, especially the ones in our own communities, so that their sacrifices are recognized and their service honored.

This year, Americans lost the last of a certain breed. West Virginia's Hershel "Woody" Williams passed away on June 29, 2022, at the age of 98. He was the final surviving recipient of the Medal of Honor from World War II.

The story of Woody Williams is representative of the veterans of his generation who are passing from the scene but also speaks to the experience of veterans across our history. He was born on a dairy farm in West Virginia in 1923. After the United States entered World War II, his older brothers served in the Army, but he chose the Marine Corps due to its blue uniforms. He was rejected at first due to his 5-foot-6 height but successfully enlisted when he tried again in 1943.

He received the Medal of Honor for his actions on February 23, 1945, during the Battle of Iwo Jima. As a corporal with the 21st Marines, 3rd Marine Division, he volunteered to clear a path through the hardened defenses erected by Japanese forces on the island. For four hours, he repeatedly ran under heavy fire between the American lines and the Japanese positions, grabbing the demolition charges or flamethrowers he needed from his comrades and returning to destroy the Japanese defenses.

President Harry S. Truman awarded Mr. Williams the Medal of Honor at the White House on October 5, 1945. He returned home to West Virginia and married his fiancée, Ruby. In his later years, he remained an undaunted voice for his fellow veterans and for Gold Star families.

Woody Williams may have been the last of World War II's Medal of Honor winners among us, but there are plenty of veterans still to thank. According to the most recent data from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, more than 19 million veterans live among us in the United States and more than 700,000 in Virginia. Some of them still struggle with injuries received in the line of duty. We can honor veterans not just on the day set aside for them but every day. Consider supporting causes or organizations that work with veterans. Listen to their stories, and even help record them for posterity through the Library of Congress' Veterans History Project. Check in on family members and friends who served. Further, if you are a veteran who needs assistance accessing your VA benefits or securing medals that were lost or awarded but never delivered, please contact my office and we can assist you. On the National World War I Memorial in Washington, D.C., is inscribed a quote by the author Willa Cather: "They were mortal, but they were unconquerable." If they are unconquerable, our country is unconquerable, and for that, we owe America's veterans our deepest gratitude.

Silencing of God: Not the intent or design of the Founding Fathers

Editor's note: This is a speech delivered on Veterans Day several years ago by Col. Ken Sullivan, U.S. Army (Ret.) It has been submitted for publication this Veterans Day by Dublin's Col. Dallas Cox, U.S. Army (Ret.)

As we pause to honor all veterans who served this great nation, I want to dig back into history and see what our Founding Fathers believed in respect to God and to see how often God was referenced in the Declaration of Independence and in various writings of the times.

We live in an age where liberals denigrate God at every opportunity, demanding the removal of our religious heritage from all areas of our lives. This was not the intention of the Founding Fathers.

God is mentioned several times in the Declaration of Independence. In the first sentence we read, "to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitled them ... "

The Declaration goes on to state, "... that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

In the last paragraph, we find the phrase, "with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence."

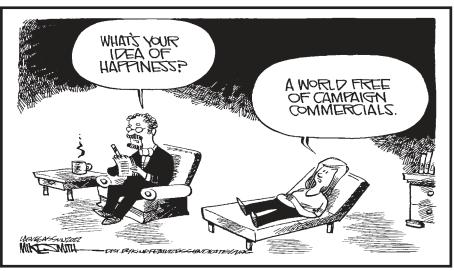

And finally, it states, "we mutually pledge each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

Of the 56 men who signed the Declaration of Independence, 24 held seminary or Bible school degrees. Their strong moral and spiritual convictions form the foundations of our nation.

George Washington said, "... while zealously performing the duties of a citizen, we certainly ought not to be inattentive to the higher duties of religion.'

John Adams, our second president, offered this observation, "Suppose a nation in some distant region should take the Bible for their only law book ... and regulate their conduct by the precepts there exhibited! Every member would be obliged in conscience, to temperance, frugality, and industry; to justice,

A 'sure thing' election that wasn't

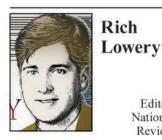

By CAL THOMAS, Tribune Content Agency

MIAMI - If Republicans could not score their "red wave" victories predicted by many pundits - and even some Democrats - in these midterm elections, what's next for them? All the issues were on their side - inflation, high gas and food prices, an open border, underperforming schools. If they couldn't win with this gale wind at their backs, on what issues can they prevail?

Voters in Pennsylvania elected John Fetterman, a hard-core leftist who believes, in the middle of a crime wave, that a lot of violent criminals should be released from prison, or not be incarcerated at all. They apparently didn't care about his inability to speak clearly due to a stroke. One bright spot for Republicans came in Florida. Gov. Ron DeSantis and Sen. Marco Rubio had impressive nights. Both beat their opponents by nearly 20 points. DeSantis likely boosted his presidential prospects for 2024, despite what former President Donald Trump decides (Trump is likely to announce next week that he's running again). Credit for such powerful victories goes mainly to the massive migration of voters from other states to Florida, and its exploding Hispanic communities. Democrats had erroneously hoped that Hispanics might vote for their candidates. It was the opposite. Miami-Dade and Palm Beach counties, which had been reliably Democratic for decades, flipped. DeSantis is the first Republican to win Miami-Dade in 20 years. In his victory speech Tuesday night, DeSantis electrified the crowd at his headquarters when he declared "Florida is where the woke agenda goes to die." He blamed that agenda for people leaving liberal states and coming to what he called "the promised land." He said he kept his promises to voters when it came to COVID-19 and reopening schools and businesses. "Freedom's here to stay," he shouted to wild applause. It could have been a speech launching a presidential campaign, which is likely to come later, depending on whether Trump's legal troubles affect his presidential prospects. DeSantis slammed "failed leadership in Washington."

Florida also demonstrated how to run an election. Florida has a "find my ballot" app that allows voters to track their ballots, like one can track a letter or package, or a checked bag on an airline. The software tells voters when their ballot arrives at the counting station, when it is opened and when it is counted. This process greatly enhances election integrity and faith that the outcome is legitimate,

No, Democracy Is Not on the Ballot

Democracy is under threat -the wrong candidates could win more votes than their opponents in hotly contested free and fair elections.

That's the worry of progressives insisting that "democracy is on the ballot" in the midterms.

This trope, repeated endlessly on the center-left, is offered as a reason why voters of conscience should cast aside their other concerns and vote Democrat up and down the ballot.

If this argument seems a touch self-serving -- indeed functionally indistinguishable from run-of-the-mill partisan salesmanship -- it's because it is.

As it happens, there is nothing in the actual behavior of Democrats to suggest that they take their own rhetoric seriously and that they believe "Stop the Steal" stalwarts running for, and potentially winning, key races is indeed a national emergency.

If they really thought there were an existential threat to democracy, Democrats would be eager to ally with Republicans who don't deny the 2020 election results. Of course, Democrats are trying to defeat these candidates just as assiduously as the MAGA faithful -- in other words, it's partisanship as usual.

If Democrats believed that the pro-Trump candidates are committed to overturning our system of government, they would try to block them every step of the way. Instead, they have often promoted exactly these candidates in the GOP primaries in the (sometimes flagrantly mistaken) belief that they'd be easier to defeat in the general. One would think a national emergency calls for eschewing cynicism, not engaging in grotesque displays of it.

If the norms of our system are at risk, one might also think it'd be important to foster and protect them in every way sible. Not a chance. President Joe Biden was happy to unilaterally create a massive student debt forgiveness program in a shameless exercise in imperial government, and Democrats muse openly about packing the Supreme Court and ending the filibuster to remove inconvenient checks on their power. If election denial is itself a dire threat, progressives should have made a pariah of Stacey Abrams, who denied her loss in the Georgia gubernatorial election in 2018 and spread misinformation about alleged voter suppression in a state with a model electoral system; to the contrary, they made her a national celebrity and happily repeated her dubious claims. If the election is about protecting democracy over and above anything else, Democrats should be setting aside all their positions on hot-button issues that make Republicans reluctant to vote for them -- on abortion, climate change, guns, and so on. Naturally, they are more dug in on these issues than ever. If they have to choose between protecting democracy and advancing their pet left-wing causes, the pet left-wing causes win every protecting against conspiracy theories. Florida should be the model for the nation. They've come a long way from "hanging chads" in the 2000 presidential election.

When all votes are counted and if Republicans win a slim House majority (whether they win the Senate or not), they can still thwart much of the Biden administration's agenda. Will Democrats track toward the middle and embrace moderation, instead of wokeness? Will the left allow them?

The media, which is always there to support Democrats in defeat and cheer them in victory, is unlikely to change. Failure to lock up violent criminals is also likely to continue. That's because politicians whose policies have contributed to crime - such as winning Gov. Kathy Hochul of New York - are unlikely to do much to contain it since she is in denial about the problem.

People who are happy or breathing easier because of the outcome of this election now own its consequences. Inflation, high gas and food prices, and an open border are likely to continue. Republicans have a lot of work to do to change voter attitudes. Maybe another two years of suffering will do it, assuming the country survives.

The Rollicking Days of November Christmas Is Not

November seems to be a month of changes and roller-coaster ride experiences. We lose Daylight Savings Time and struggle to re-adjust our internal clocks to the longer nights. Kids and parents are recouperating from the Holloween candy sugar highs (parents, you promised yourself you wouldn't snitch your kids' candy). And the political parties are either rejoicing or mourning the election results.

I don't know about you, but my brain has been on overload for the last week; and I needed a soft-landing for this week's article. So, here are ten important rollicking historic events of November that impacted America.

November 19, 1493 – Christopher Columbus discovered the Island of Puerto Rico during his second voyage to the New World, claiming it for Spain and calling it San Juan Bautista. Puerto Rico's native Taíno population called it Borinquén. In 1508, Juan Ponce de León founded the first European settlement, Caparra, which was later renamed Puerto Rico (or "rich port") in 1521.

This next date connects the Commonwealth of Virginia to world history. On November 22, 1718, Edward Teach, aka "Blackbeard the Pirate," was killed off the coast of North Carolina. Virginia Lt. Governor Alexander Spotswood sent two ships to put an end to the fearsome Blackbeard's legacy. Although his piracy career only lasted for 15-months, he was infamous for his despicable acts on land and sea. He sailed the Queen Anne's Revenge which boasted 40 guns and a crew of 300.

November 17, 1734 - New York Weekly Journal publisher John Peter Zenger was arrested and charged with libeling the (British appointed) colonial governor of NY. Although he didn't personally write the articles, he printed them and refused to name their authors. When a corrupt government becomes all powerful, freedom of the press becomes a critical issue. The newpaper articles accused the government of rigging elections, and specifically the governor of an assortment of crimes; labeling him an idiot. Hmmm...sound familiar? Interestingly, the positive results of this trial would be a precursor of our First Amendment Rights of Freedom of the Press.

November 15, 1777 – The Articles of Confederation were adopted by the Continental Congress and served as the United States'

One Nation Under God By Danielle Reid

first Constitution. They were written by one of the three committees established by the Congress, and was tasked with determining what form the Confederation of the Colonies should take. The committee included one representative from each colony, with Delaware delegate John Dickinson as the principle writer. The Dickinson Draft of the Articles of Confederation named the confederation "the United States of America."

November 30, 1782 is the day a provisional peace treaty was signed between Great Britain and the United State of America, bringing the War for Independence to a close. In the final treaty, the USA was declared "...to be free, sovereign and independent states." It also stated that the British Crown "...relinquishes all claims to the government, propriety and territorial rights of the same, and every part thereof."

November 25, 1783 – A year later after signing the peace treaty in Paris, the last British troops left New York City. Must have been the great ethnic food and restaurants that kept them there so long?

November 14, 1889 – Here's one the ladies will appreciate. Newspaper reporter Elizabeth Cochrane, writing under the pen name of Nellie Bly, set out from New York to beat the Jules Verne imaginary hero Phileas Fogg's travels around the world in 80 days. She returned 72 days later amid a tumultuous New York welcome.

November 20, 1789 – New Jersey became the first state to ratify the Bill of Rights. You may remember that the Bill of Rights was drawn from Virginia's Declaration of Rights, drafted by George Mason in 1776. Virginia became the 10th of 14 states to approve ten of the original twelve proposed Amendments. This gave the Bill of Rights the majority of state ratifications necessary to make it legal.

November 26, 1789 Now the President of the United States of America, George Washington declares the first American holiday under the new Constitution, to be Thanksgiving Day – a day of prayer and public thanksgiving in gratitude to God for the successful establishment of the new American republic. Notice, the idea of a day of prayer and thanksgiving came from both Houses of Congress! In his proclamation, President Washington declared that the people owe reverence and honor for the Almighty's care of Americans prior to the Revolution, His assistance in achieving independence, and guidance in establishing the Constitutional government.

Here is Washington's opening statement: "...whereas both Houses of Congress have by their joint Committee requested me to recommend to the People of the United States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness." I encourage you to read the entire proclamation at: mountvernon.org

November 17, 1800 – The United States Congress met for the first time in the new Capital of Washington, DC. Our nation's second President, John Adams, became the first occupant of the Executive Mansion, also known as the President's House, the Presidential Palace, the Presidential Mansion, and at one time, known as "The People's House." In 1901, President Theodore Roosevelt officially named it the White House and incorporated it into his letterhead.

The White House is the oldest federal building in the nation's capital, sits on 18 manicured acres and has over 100 rooms. It was built using sandstone imported from quarries along Aquia Creek in Virginia. Contrary to popular legend, it was not painted white to cover the scorch marks left when British soldiers attempted to burn it down in 1814.

Whether it's traveling around the world, ridding the coast of dreaded pirates, or establishing a new and independent nation, the month of November provides lots of opportunities for us to contemplate our past and be thankful, as our ancestors were, to Almighty God for his protection and love.

Christmas Is Not an Emergency

By Rachel Cruze

Christmas and money—now there's a combination that can send anyone spiraling.

When you're trying to take control of your money, saving for an emergency fund is a crucial part of the process. In fact, it's so important that at Ramsey Solutions, the emergency fund makes up not one, but two of the seven Baby Steps. After you've saved $1,000 in a starter emergency fund (Baby Step 1), and you've paid off all debt except the house (Baby Step 2), we recommend saving three to six months of expenses in a fully funded emergency fund (Baby Step 3). Then, once you have a fully funded emergency fund, it's time to keep it safely tucked away ... you guessed it: in case of an emergency.

But what do you do after you've reached this money milestone? Next, it's important to make sure your emergency fund doesn't become a crutch for non-emergencies. (Spoiler alert: Christmas is not an emergency.)

I know, I know. The hustle of the holiday season can sometimes feel like an "unexpected" money problem. From kids' Christmas parties at school to last-minute white elephant gifts, even if you technically know that Christmas happens every year, unpredictable expenses can cause more panic than a little snow in the south.

But don't worry, I've put together a list of tips to help you (and me) keep that emergency fund safe this holiday season.

1. Start saving now. Some of you have been saving for months, or maybe even all year. But if you haven't, don't freak out. You've still got a little time. Take a deep breath, and look at your monthly budget. Make small adjustments wherever you can to create a plan for your Christmas expenses.

2. Build a budget for seasonal spending. Write down every person (and party) you'll need to spend money on, then assign a dollar amount for each item on your list. Don't forget to create wiggle room in other ways too. For example, if you need more money to spend on holiday travel, consider making an agreement with your spouse that you won't buy each other gifts this year.

3. Plan B is always an option. In this case, B stands for baking! If the holiday budget is getting tight, try gifting a homemade loaf of bread and a handwritten note to a few people on your list. If cookies mean a lot to Santa, a tasty treat made with love will feel like a warm hug to your family and friends.

4. Trim the excess. Traditions are great, but you don't have to do something just because you've always done it that way. If you typically spend money on a fancy Christmas card, maybe this is the year you decide to share a fun Instagram post instead. Or if you host an annual holiday dinner, ask everyone to pitch in potluck style this time. The people who love you will also love to help you.

5. Think experiences over expenses. Like every classic Christmas movie teaches, the holiday season is really about community and connection. Try a new activity or experience that doesn't cost money, like volunteering at a food bank as a family or hosting a game night for your neighborhood. There are tons of ways to spread holiday cheer without using your emergency fund.

Now I don't know about you, but that's a list I'm excited to check twice!

You've been good all year

At the very least, if Democrats fear that MAGA candidates will try to change the 2024 election result in Congress after the fact, they should feel some urgency about passing the Electoral Count Reform Act, which attempts to tighten up the rules to prevent such gamesmanship. Democrats are bragging about passing all sorts of bills this year, yet not the one most relevant to what they say is the foremost issue of our times. Biden is promising if he gets a Democratic Congress again that the first bill he'd pursue is ... a radical pro-abortion law.

In short, democracy is not on the ballot, and not even Democrats are acting like it is. That doesn't mean that the "Stop the Steal" candidates don't present potential problems, or that election denial as such isn't corrosive. But Democrats are fooling themselves if they think they'd accept a clear Trump victory in 2024 as legitimate any more than they did in 2016.

If there were a literal referendum on democracy, it'd pass handily. As it is, though, no one is going to be convinced to vote for down-the-line Biden-supporting progressives, with all their fevered obsessions, because hypocritical, self-interested partisans say it's what we owe to our republic.

Potatoes Are Your Friend

Andrea K. Wann, MPH Virginia Cooperative Extension akrauser@vt.edu

Hi, all! Did you know that potatoes are your friend? Bizarre choice of words for a first sentence, right? In recent years there has been a constant back and forth of whether or not potatoes are good for you. Today I am telling you that they have many, many benefits for our bodies and yes, they are indeed good for you. Whether you enjoy potatoes in the variety of russet, red, Yukon Gold, sweet, purple, or fingerling, keep enjoying them! Potatoes offer minerals such as potassium, magnesium and manganese which are vital for heart health. Magnesium is a mineral that may be beneficial in easing anxiety as well. Potatoes are loaded with B vitamins (Folate, Niacin, and B6) which help to support memory retention, enhance our moods, increase energy levels and stimulate our immune systems. Sweet potatoes and purple potatoes do tend to have more antioxidants than white potatoes. The vibrant orange and purple hues in these varieties, provide carotenoids and anthocyanins - ilies and households!

Potatoes are also great sources of fiber and if you eat the skin of the potato (which should be encouraged) you'll get even more fiber – just be sure to wash the potatoes well with warm water and a scrub brush. Where it does get a little tricky is how we prepare potatoes. If potatoes are prepared with copious amounts of butter, cheese and cream, then we might be cancelling out all of the good benefits. Instead of adding hefty helpings of cream, butter or cheese, try simply adding less than usual or make some swaps such as plain Greek yogurt in place of sour cream. Next time you have potatoes, simply add less of those items than you normally would; the times after that, try to cut back to about half of what you usually add. Healthy progress is all about small changes and small changes provide sustainable habits. To summarize, potatoes of any variety offer many benefits to our bodies. They are loaded with vitamins, minerals and fiber that are critical for heart and brain health. Not to mention, potatoes are an incredibly affordable and versatile food - a win for all fam-

Mike "the Barman" Richardson, who worked more than a decade at Mountain Lake and led guided tours of the resort on Dirty Dancing weekends, shares fascinating stories, movie trivia, rare photos, and much more in his new book, The Time of My Life: A Dirty Dancing Mountain Lake Memoir.

"Mike the Barman," as he came to be known by visitors from around the world, was the go-to guy for all things Dirty Dancing at Mountain Lake, the resort in Giles County, Virginia, that served as the primary shooting location for the 1987 movie in which it was known as "Kellerman's Mountain House." Decades after the movie's release, fans still gather at Mountain Lake to relive included watching Dirty Danc-

> Everyone knows the hotel bartender holds all the secrets.

"I made it my purpose, as a service to guests, to learn everything there was to know about the movie," Mike the Barman writes in his book. "It became common practice for the rest of the hotel staff, when asked about either subject, to refer guests to me in the hotel's tavern. The common refrain was, 'Ask Mike the bartender, he knows everything.'

"I went all in and sought to give the guests the best Dirty Dancing experience I possibly could. That over the course of two years, six months, and two weeks. I promise you. I started counting during Christmas of 2015, when I was first asked to screen the movie in the tavern."

In 2017, which marked the 30th anniversary of the release of Dirty Dancing in theaters, the hotel swarmed with throngs of movie fans and journalists from all corners of the globe who traveled to Virginia's Blue Ridge to celebrate the film. kindness and charity towards his fellow men; and to piety, love and reverence toward Almighty God."

Thomas Jefferson, John Hancock, Samuel Adams, James Madison, Benjamin Franklin, William Penn and many others recorded similar sentiments.

But you may ask, "What about the separation of church and state clause?"

Well, that is not in our founding documents. The phrase came from a letter from Thomas Jefferson to the Danbury Baptist Association in Connecticut. It discussed the freedom of belief lies solely between Man and his God and that was the intent of the phrase, "declaring that the legislature should make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The wall of separation was to protect religion from government ... not, as we are living, a banning of God from our government.

Interestingly, while President, Thomas Jefferson was elected to head the school board of Washington, D.C. One of the designated books of the curriculum was the Bible.

So, when did the vacating of our morality start?

Billboard and bus advertisement used to advertise restaurants and equipment sales. Now you see billboards, bus ads and political party platforms touting, "There is no God." Pundits, comedians, and leaders bombard us with the idea that all religious ideas are pure fantasy.

TIME magazine, in April 1966, had a cover that asked, "Is God Dead?"

Newsweek magazine, April 2009, had a cover that stated, "The Decline and Fall of Christian America."

A few years ago, a noted atheist, Richard Dawkins said, "God is dead, and it was science that killed him."

Nietzsche (1844-1900), a philosopher, also stated that God is dead.

Let me give you an update. Frederick Nietzsche is dead ... but, not God.

The powers that be are after the minds and souls of our children. The concept of intelligent design is not being taught, actually it's outlawed. For decades evolution is being forced on us, and upon honest examination, is severely flawed in concept. This concept is intended to eliminate the idea of intelligent design which points to the designer.

The March 2006 edition of Another text states that we evolved from apes. We know some animals eat their young. So, when we teach that we evolve from animals, acting like an animal is the next logical step. Then when we are saturated with this propaganda, it's easy to convince ourselves that babies in the womb are not really human, abortion becomes an easy conclusion.

Not only in science books, but the powers that be are actively going after or targeting religion in general ... painting godly people as having small, weak and superstitious minds. There is a dedicated effort to remove all religious icons as being racial or out of tune with modern thinking.

Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, made a statement on the importance of religion taught together with other educational subjects. He said, "The only foundation for a useful education in a republic is to be laid in religion. Without this there can be no virtue, and without virtue, there can be no liberty, and liberty is the object and life of all republican governments ... without religion, I believe learning does much mischief to the morals and principles of Mankind!"

In other words, if you give someone a whole lot of learning, and they don't have a moral footing – guess what's going to happen ... you don't have to guess, just watch the nightly news or look at the conditions of the world we are living in.

History lesson – If you don't learn it, you will repeat it. We won't go too far back, but in:

1859 – Charles Darwin and his book, "Origin of the Species" jump starting evolutionary thought ... and his research was sketchy, lacking facts and high on speculation.

1925 – Scopes Monkey Trial in Dayton, Tenn. On a subject being surreptitiously eased into curriculum.

Let's go to some events that have happened in the lifetimes of us present here today.

In 1950, the federal government got involved in the topic of human origin by founding the National Science Foundation.

In 1957, we were racing the Russians into space, and we lost, remember Sputnik? Panic and wild speculation ensued. There was a great pressure to produce better scientists in America ... nothing wrong with that, but more follows.

In 1959, advisors came to President Eisenhower, ironically on the 100th anniversary of Darwin's book, "advocating the need to reduce the influence of God and the teaching of the creation story and use what other nations are teachBible reading from the schools.

You may say, what does it matter? Well, what we think and learn about our origins actually dictates behavior. A generation of people taught that they are made in God's image will act differently than if they were taught that they are the result of a fortunate mistake of countless bio-chemical organisms ... keep this phrase in mind!

On the impact of textbooks, Hitler said, "Let me control the textbooks, then I will control the mind of the state."

So what are the results or unintended consequences of these actions ... we have tons of data over the last 59 years.

Let's use 1963 as a baseline because from the time Eisenhower asked for funding, to distribution of new textbooks took about four years, just like most government programs. Remember, by 1963, prayer had been outlawed, Bible reading stopped and now the concept of evolution dominates science textbooks.

Since 1963, here are the crops that have been reaped:

1-The percentage of teenage boys and girls having pre-marital sex has risen every year since 1963.

2-Remember, before 1963, the prominent teaching was that we are created in the image of God. After 1963, we are the fortunate mistake of bio-chemical organisms.

3-Here are some figures since our baseline of 1963:

A-Sexually transmitted disease in children ages 10-14 ... up 385 percent.

B-Birthrate for unwed girls ages 15 to 19 ... up 200 percent.

C-Pregnancies for the same age group ... up 553 percent ... Now you say, "Time Out," your math is off ... but in 1973, we legalized abortion.

D-Out of wedlock births have risen every year since 1963. In December 2021, it was reported that 43 percent of all children born come home to one parent.

4-Now you may say, "So what?" ... But consider this.

A-God had a plan for the family.

B-The impact on the home with no Dad is devastating. Sixty-three percent of teenage suicides come from homes without a father.

C-Seventy-one percent of high school dropouts come from a home without a father.

D-Eighty-five percent of young people in prison come from a home without a father. 5-Since 1963, unmarried couples living together is up 725 percent. Some of you are old enough to remember that if you had suggested that you were going to shack up with your boyfriend or girlfriend – you'd still be trying to pick your teeth up from the floor.

6-Violence since 1963 ... up 995 percent. Some schools now practice shooting drills. I remember fire drills as a good excuse to get outside. I've lived where we had tornado drills, and dating myself, I remember nuclear attack drills, head between your knees under your desk ... but shooting drills? The value on a human life has taken a hit.

7-Overall suicide rates since 1963, have risen 253 percent. When you eliminate God, you eliminate hope.

8-Child abuse, up 2,300 percent. That is no surprise when you teach that people came from animals, what do you think they are going to act like.

9-Drug use is up 6,000 percent since 1963. And now we are being bombarded with homosexual issues, Critical Race Theory and other things that fly in the face of Biblical principles.

The U.S. people have always like to win. We pride ourselves on comebacks and ending the day in triumph.

Well, since 1963, since we removed Biblical principles from education, we have become No. 1 in the world in violent crime, No. 1 in divorce rate, No. 1 in illegal drug use, No. 1 in teenage pregnancy and of the developed countries, No. 1 in illiteracy. It's hard not to point out that many of these ills are the result of removing moral principles from our culture.

We can turn it around, but it will cost. In the book of Esther in the Bible, Queen Vashti, wife of Xerxes, made a stand that cost her. Xerxes, called Ahasuerus in the Bible, wanted her to come and show off her beauty and dance before his drunken crowd. She refused and was removed as Queen. Do we have the courage and fortitude to become a moral standard once again for the world?

Only time will tell. As we take time out to honor veterans, we have sacrificed to maintain freedom, take time to also consider what the campaign to eliminate Biblical moral values has cost our nation and the example we set for the world.

God bless you and all the veterans who serve our nation.

Mike started working in the kitchen at Mountain Lake in 2001 and served in many capacities during his tenure, culminating with several years in the tavern. He led both official tours of the property and intimate private tours for Dirty Dancing überfans.

Ultimately, those experiences inspired Mike to write the book. His insider account adds new layers to the movie and its setting, told as only a beloved bartender can.

If you were ever curious about the history of this picturesque hotel, where iconic settings such as Baby's cabin and the "water lift" were captured or are just curious to learn how the legacy of this hit 80s film lives on, this is a memoir that will have you aching for steamy summer nights. Recapture the movie's magic in this love letter to Mountain Lake.

"What I'm trying to do in this book, as best as I can, is to convey the essence of a Dirty Dancing weekend via my experiences at Mountain Lake," he said. "For those unable to make the pilgrimage to our mountain retreat, I hope this will suffice. For those planning a vacation to the hotel, I hope this memoir serves as a handy reference guide for your future trip.

"And last, for those who have made the sojourn at some point in past years, I trust it will stir fond memories."

About Mike the Barman

Mike "The Barman" Richardson worked at Mountain Lake Lodge for roughly 15 years. When not mixing drinks, he became famous for dazzling guests with his beloved tours of the locations throughout the property that were used in the making of Dirty Dancing. It wasn't long after he started offering these "Nickel Tours" that he became the resort's official Dirty Dancing tour guide. Now retired and living in sunny Florida, this memoir is "The Barman's" way of sharing his famed tour with the world.

2022 4-H Thanksgiving Dinner Food Basket Service Project

Hello 4-H'ers, 4-H Leaders, Parents, Teachers, Community Leaders and Friends,

Discover magazine contained the quote: "We humans have evolved from a fortunate mistake of bio-chemical organisms."

Well, how did all of this junk start?

At its root, there are only two options, you and I are here because of an intelligent designer, or we are here as the result of countless bio-chemical organisms, accidentally or randomly coming together.

In your mind, ask yourself, what is the only legal theory of origin that is included in our textbooks today?

One textbook states "Humans evolved from bacteria that evolved 400 million years ago." Do you think that statement could infect the minds of children as they mature into adulthood? ing, we need to teach evolution."

They based their recommendations on the teaching models of three countries. Russia, China and Germany ... not good role models morally.

Eisenhower asked Congress for $1 billion (in 1959 dollars that's a lot), to revamp how we teach human origins in this country. Now, note the dominos that start to fall ...

In 1962, the Supreme Court ruled that prayer in schools was unconstitutional.

In 1963, Madeline Murray O'Hare lobbied for and succeeded in having Bible reading banned from schools.

Follow me now ... at the same time we are injecting the godless theory of evolution into curriculum, we are removing prayer and Pulaski County 4-H Clubs in association with the Virginia Cooperative Extension – Pulaski Office, will be putting together Thanksgiving Dinner Food Baskets for families in Pulaski County again this year and need your help. Over the past 13 years, working through New River Valley Community Services (NRVCS) and Social Services, Pulaski County 4-H Clubs have created over 109 baskets. This year we would like to create 30 baskets for families with children identified by NRVCS, Pulaski Department of Social Services and the Pulaski Department of Juvenile Justice.

As we've done the past two years, we are asking for monetary gifts instead of asking for items to be purchased and dropped at the Extension Office. Working with Kroger – Fairlawn, we'll purchase all the items in bulk and pick up at the same time to then be sorted into family food baskets.

To support this great 4-H service project, mail or bring your monetary gift to the Pulaski Extension Office, located at 143 Third Street, NW, Suite 3, Pulaski, VA 24301, no later than Wednesday, November 16, 2022. Checks made payable to 'Treasurer of Virginia Tech,' Memo: 4-H Thanksgiving Food Baskets. Any gift is greatly appreciated as each Thanksgiving Food Basket costs $95 to create, based on today's prices.

History comes to life at Wilderness Road Museum

Pulaski County Public Schools

Fourth-grade students from each of the Pulaski County elementary schools were treated to a special event this week as the Wilderness Road Regional Museum in Newbern welcomed them to the first "Fall on the Frontier" event.

With activities that featured area volunteers, Pulaski County Public School staff members and administrators, as well as members of the Pulaski County High School drama department, students were able to get a firsthand look at how things were in the earliest years of our hometown.

"We are very pleased to have been a part of the first ever Fall on the Frontier interactive local history experience for all fourthgrade students in Pulaski County," Dr. Kevin Siers, Superintendent of Pulaski County Public Schools and regular volunteer at the museum said. "The entire week was an overwhelming success and we have received lots of positive feedback from our students and teachers. The folks with the Wilderness Road Regional Museum did a fantastic job of putting this program together and we're very proud of our PCHS drama students who assisted with some of the reenactments. During the week, over 300 fourth-grade students from all five elementary schools participated in tours of local historic sites, joined in with interactive agricultural projects, experienced life in the militia during the Revolutionary War, learned about the art of blacksmithing, engaged in fiber arts activities, and participated in a mock frontier trial."

At the start of each day, April Martin welcomed students to what was originally the home of the Hance-Alexander family, which was built sometime between 1806 and 1812 by Newbern's founder, Henry Hance. The building, which was originally two homes, also served as a tavern, general store, and the first post office in Newbern.

The museum, which is operated by members of the New River Historical Society and located in the main building, features many letters, documents, paintings, photos, business records, furniture, tools, and many other objects relevant to life at that time in Southwest Virginia.

Students interacted with volunteers to learn about not only the history and origins of Pulaski County, but also how those early residents lived their day-to-day live

One of the activities that involved students even more was a mock witch trial, held at the original jail across the street from the museum. PCPS staff members and students from the PCHS drama department portrayed characters involved in the trial, but the fourth-grade students served as the jury. During the trial, students listened as a neighbor and the mother-in-law of the accused witch gave the "facts" of the case involving the disappearance of the accused witches husband.

After all of the evidence was presented, the magistrate allowed the students to ask questions of those involved. While some groups only ask a few questions, most had many questions as they attempted to get to the bottom of the story. After that was over, a vote was taken of the student jury to determine if the accused witch was punished or set free. Results varied each time, based on how in-depth the students looked into the facts of the case.

"The whole experience was fantastic for our community as not many people realize the important role that Pulaski County played in the evolution of our region, state and country," Dr. Siers stated. "We greatly hope that this is an event that will become an annual occurrence."

The Wilderness Road Regional Museum, located at 5240 Wilderness Road in Newbern, is normally open from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. For more information, feel free to call (540) 674-4835 or visit them on Facebook.

Cougars battle, but see season end in C'burg

By MASON CLARK The Patriot

Going into Friday, the ramifications were clear. With a win, Pulaski County would most likely make it into the postseason. But with a loss, it would take a series of things to go just right for the Cougars to reach the playoffs. Despite a strong second half rally, it wasn't to be as the Christiansburg Blue Demons were able to hang on for a 34-31 win over Pulaski County, ending our season at 4-6 for the second consecutive year and finishing one place outside of playoff contention for the second straight year.

For the seniors on the team, it ended their careers as Cougars and for most of them, their football careers as a whole. The few days the last game is always hard.

Christiansburg wasted no time setting the tone for the evening. Pulaski County got the ball first, and moved the ball some, but ultimately had to punt the ball away. The Cougar defense had the Demons in a third-and-long situation, but it wouldn't matter as Curtis Altizer broke free right up the middle of the Cougar defense and rumbled 84 yards for a Demon touchdown. The PAT left the score 7-0.

The Cougars moved the ball a little bit again, but again had to punt. Christiansburg's quarterback Tanner Evans kept the ball, ran up the middle and seemed to disappear in the middle of the play, but then broke free and ran all the way to the end zone for a second Demon touchdown. The score moved to 14-0 in favor of Christiansburg.

Not all was bad in the first half however. The Cougars, mostly with Chris Gallimore and Trevor Burton taking turns running the ball, moved the ball on a long drive. Just before the half, senior Nathan Pratt nailed a field goal to get PCHS on the board before the half ended. That made it 14-3. Despite a nice kick return by Christiansburg's Jayron Thompson, the Demons just missed a long field goal and the Cougars went into the half up 14-3.

Christiansburg did get the ball to start the second half though, and they marched down the field quickly. The drive culminated with a pass from Tanner Evans to Jayron Thompson in the front of the end zone. The PAT was no good, and this made it 20-3 in favor of Christiansburg. Things didn't look good for the Cougars, but they kept fighting.

After a long and hard drive, Burton finally got loose and ran down the sideline for a 37-yard touchdown, which tied the record of rushing touchdowns in a single season for the senior. Pratt's PAT made it 20-10, and while the Cougs still had a way to go, it was a step in the right direction, and got the Cougar fans who made the trip energized.

track meet between two run-first offenses. The Cougs moved the football down the field efficiently and methodically. Burton walked into the end zone a few plays later, in what set a new mark for single-season rushing touchdowns, and what would be the last of his historic season, to draw it to 27-24 and keep the Cougars in the thick of things.

But the Demon run game had worked all night and it'd work again. Curtis Altizer again broke free up the middle, and raced to the end zone to give the Demons a 34-24 lead.

But there was no quit to be found in the Cougars, no matter how unlikely it looked. Burton, seeing time possibly dwindling down on his high school football career, got loose and ran hard down the visitor sideline and into the Blue Demon red zone. Just a couple of plays later, Gallimore kept the football and got to the end zone for his second score of the night, and with that, it was 34-31.

Christiansburg, with just a couple minutes remaining, very cleverly used timeouts and the play clock to run every second off the clock possible, before punting the ball away. Mace made a fair catch with just seconds remaining. Gallimore completed a pass to Mace for 21 yards. The

Cougars

Continued from Page B1 clock showed all zeros, but it appeared Mace hit the ground with a second or two left. The referee spotted the ball, but there was no time on the clock. It was honestly just a botched and confusing situation all around, and the game ended shortly thereafter. The season had come to an end. The Cougars finished 4-6, ninth in the region, and just missed the playoffs for a second consecutive year. EC Glass finished first in the region standings. Louisa Countt is second, Salem third, Orange County fourth, Amherst County fifth, Western Albemarle sixth, Jefferson Forest at seven, and Halifax County edged the Cougars for the eight seed. The Cougars came in at ninth, GW Danville at tenth, Mecklenburg County (a brand new school) at eleven, and last place was Blacksburg.

Burton capped an amazing season with 35 carries for 255 yards and 2 touchdowns. Gallimore ran 19 times for 101 yards and 2 more touchdowns. Mace ran 3 times for 10 yards. Gallimore hit on three passes for 43 yards. Mace had 1 for 21, Underwood caught 1 for 19, and Marcus Reed caught 1 for 3 yards. That gave us 410 yards of offense on 70 plays from scrimmage.

The Blue Demons ran it 29 times for 340 yards and was 5 of 8 for 83 yards, giving them 37 plays for 423 yards of offense.

The season has come to an end. This isn't what we wanted all for a fun year!

Cougar QB Chris Gallimore stiff-arms a would-be tackler.

Basile's 30 points highlight Hokies' opening night win

Hokiesports.com

BLACKSBURG - An impressive offensive performance - highlighted by 30 points from Grant Basile - powered Virginia Tech to a 95-57 win over Delaware State on Monday night inside Cassell Coliseum.

The Hokies had three players score in double figures, including Basile, who put together a double-double with 30 points and 10 rebounds. Sean Pedulla added 18 points and eight assists and Darius Maddox chipped in as well with 14 points. Basile's 30 points were the most in a Tech debut since Landers Nolley II dialed up 30 at Clemson in Mike Young's first game at the helm of the Hokies

The Virginia Tech offense was impressive from downtown, pouring in 14 threes on 28 attempts. Basile hit six treys for the Hokies in the contest.

Virginia Tech's defense held Delaware State to only 38.7% shooting from the field, including 25% from beyond the arc. The Hornets didn't have much luck cleaning up their misses on the offensive glass either, as they finished with seven offensive rebounds and managed 15 second-chance points while Virginia Tech cleared 31 defensive rebounds.

How It Happened

After jumping out to a 20-14 advantage, Tech went on a 9-0 run with 11:52 left in the first half, culminating in a bucket from MJ Collins, to increase its lead to 29-14. The Hokies then added 10 points to that lead by the end of the period and entered halftime with a 56-31 advantage. Tech relied on its 3-point shooting in the period, knocking down 10 shots to account for 30 of its 56 points.

Following intermission, Tech kept widening that lead, expanding it to 72-40 before going on an 8-0 run to grow the lead to 80-40 with 10:39 to go in the AVONDALE, Ariz. – It was the perfect ending to a season Joey Logano started with a win.

Sunday's NASCAR Cup Series Championship Race at Phoenix Raceway, Logano started on the pole, won the first stage, led a race-high 187 laps, won the race and claimed his second series championship (2018, 2022).

Logano joins two-time champion Kyle Busch as only the second active driver in the series to hold more than one title. The victory was his fourth of the season, his third at Phoenix and the 31st of his career in his 507th Cup start.

Back in February, Logano Dominating the action in won the competitive debut of NA-SCAR's Next Gen car in the exhibition Clash at the Coliseum in Los Angeles. On Sunday, in a sprawling desert city some 370 miles to the east of L.A., he put the finishing touch on a dream season.

Logano finished .301 seconds ahead of Team Penske teammate Ryan Blaney. Championship 4 contender Ross Chastain was closing fast in the final laps and came home third, 1.268 seconds behind Logano on the track and one spot behind the driver of the No. 22 Ford in the final standings.

"We did it!" exulted Logano, the first Ford active driver to hold two championships since David Pearson in 1968-1969. "We're champions again-yes! Oh, my God, I'm so excited. Thank you to everybody, my team. You guys are amazing. Gave me a good race car, good pit stop there at the end, got us up in front. Boy, that was just intense there at the end.

"It's all about championships. That's what it's all about, and we worked so hard the last couple weeks trying to put ourselves in position.'

Logano restarted third on Lap 280 after hard contact between the cars of Alex Bowman and Michael McDowell caused the sixth and final caution of the day. Three laps later he passed Chase Briscoe for the lead and opened a lead of nearly three seconds over Chastain, who was pursuing from third place.

Chastain had the faster car in the final 20 laps but ran out of time.

"I had a car fast enough to chase him down at the end," Chastain said. "I think we did everything we could. That was a heck of a drive for us.'

A disastrous 19.8-second pit stop under caution on lap 271 cost Championship 4 driver Christopher Bell an opportunity to contend for the win. Bell restarted 16th with 33 laps remaining and worked his way up to 10th at the finish.

"We fought hard, and at the end o the race... (until) the last pit stop, or what we thought was going to be the last pit stop, we were right there battling for it," Bell said. "I'm just proud to be in this position, proud to be at Joe Gibbs Racing and race this No. 20 car. We were there, and hopefully, we can come back here next year.

Radford Wins over James River; playoffs bound

By ELIZABETH KANIPE The Patriot

It was senior night at Bobcat Stadium and Radford was looking to avoid a let down after a disappointing last second loss last week. James River came to Radford looking to upset the Bobcats and finish their season with a win. The Bobcats would start slow but once they got the first score, the rest came fast.

Bobcats received the opening kickoff and turned the ball over on downs after Landen Clark fell a yard short after a fake punt attempt. James River also failed to convert on fourth down giving the ball back to the Bobcats. Radford would get things rolling. David Woodward ran up the middle for 7 yards. Clark hit Max Kanipe on fourth and one for an eight yard gain. Then Clark hit Parker Prioleau for a 19 yard gain to the Knights 2 yard line. Clark finished the drive running the ball for the 2 yard run with 4:48 left in the first quarter.

The Knights got pinned deep in their territory after good coverage downfield by the Bobcats. James River was forced to punt from their end zone. The punter fumbled the snap and Ricky Bailey landed on the ball to give Radford its second score just over a minute later. Radford attempted an onside kick and Bobcat Isiah Austin recovered on the Knights 40. Radford quickly drove down the field and scored when Clark hit Kanipe across the middle for a 13 yard score.

Both teams exchanged punts where Radford eventually took over on their own 13 yard line. Clark connected with Luke Woodard for 11 yards. Then Clark hit Kanipe for a 24 yard gain to get close to midfield. Prioleau then took a pop pass from Clark and ran to his right. The Knights cut off the angles and forced Prioleau to reverse field where he found a wall of blockers and raced 49 yards to the end zone to put Radford up 28-0 with took the second half kickoff and returned it all the way to the Bobcat 20 yard line. Hammon ran for 5 yards on the first carry and Church would score from 15 yards out to get the Knights on the scoreboard. With the Radford backups in the game, James River was able to establish a long drive moving into the Bobcat red zone but the drive ended when Bobcat Jaden Hendricks intercepted a pass in the endzone. With the running clock, Radford only had 3 possessions in the second half.

Clark finished the game 17 for 26 with 164 yards and 2 passing TDs. He also ran for one TD and scored on one of his two interceptions. Prioleau had 6 catches for 87 yards and one touchdown. Those catches gave Prioleau the RHS record for most catches and most receiving yards in a season. Kanipe finished with 5 catches for 41 yards and one touchdown.

Radford will play at home in the first round of the regional playoffs against Gretna. The game will be played at Bobcat Stadium on Friday at 7pm.

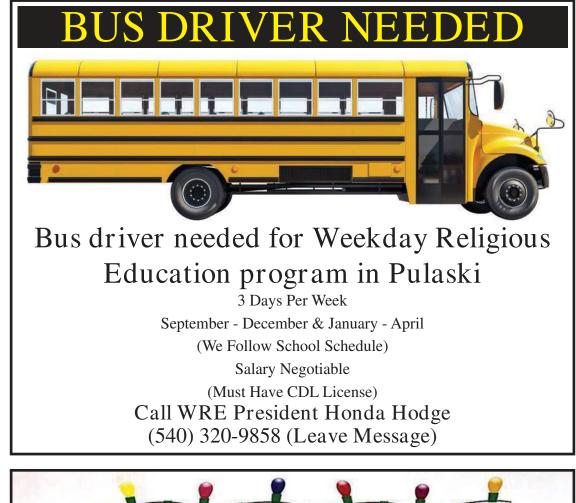

Pic 1: #18 Max Kanipe on the cross route reception and into the end zone for a TD.

Pic 2: #5 Parker Prioleau into the end zone for a TD. Prioleau's set a new Radford High School record for most catches and most receiving yards in a season.

#18 Max Kanipe on the cross route reception and into the end zone for a TD. 4:10 left in the half.

Feeling the pressure of being behind, James River took to the air to try to quickly catch up. On the second play of the drive, Clark intercepts the Zeal Hammonds pass and returned it to the Knight 34 yard line. A long Woodward run would get the ball to first and goal at the 1 yard line. Woodward would finish the drive to add to the Radford lead with 17 seconds left in the half. Clark would intercept James River's next pass also, but this time he returned it for a pick six as time expired for the half. The Bobcats now led 42-0 at the half.

Me Your Word O Lord

Teach

Terry McCraw

See that ye be not deceived

We're going to be looking at Deception. Firstly, self-deception.

Jeremiah 26:1. "In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, King of Judah, came this word from the Lord saying, Thus saith the Lord. Stand in the court of the Lord's house, and speak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the Lord's house. All the words that I command thee to speak unto them; diminish not a word. If so be that they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent Me of the evil that I purpose to do unto them because of the evil of their doings."

Jeremiah's message that God gave him, had been a message of doom and despair to the people and leaders of Judah, the Southern Kingdom of Israel. So in this account we find the people, scared out of their minds of the invaders, hiding in the Temple, thinking that religious ritual would be enough to save them.

But their problem was, *although they were practicing religious rituals, they were still living sinful lifestyles.

They were pretending to be something that they weren't. They were hypocrites, Lying to themselves, pretending outwardly to be religious, but sinfully wicked inwardly.

Theirs was a religion without a personal commitment to God.

A religion without a personal commitment to God is a poor excuse for a religion. Commitment is what causes us to go out and do for God. It is our commitment to God, that defines us as true Christians.

Some today, try to see how close they can live to the world, and still claim to be saved. With a mindset, that says, I can do this sin and that sin, and still be a Christian. But this is selfdeception. You can't live in sin and be a genuine Christian. God doesn't save us IN our sins, but He saves us FROM our sins. God told Jeremiah. I want you to tell them everything that I command you to tell them. Holding back nothing. Don't diminish a word God said. Don't soften the word of God. Don't add to it. Don't' take away from it. Listen. When we take away from the word of God or add to the word of God, it isn't the word of God anymore. Paul told Timothy basically the same thing. He told Timothy, I give you this charge. Preach the word. Be instant, in season and out of season. Reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables. To be instant in season and out of season means to be prepared and ready to share the gospel with others at ALL times. It's not enough for us just to KNOW the word of God; or to APPROVE of the word of God; but we are commanded of God to preach the word. Preach it when it is accepted. Preach it when it is not accepted. Preach it when it is easy, and preach it when it is hard. Preach it when you see it bearing fruit, and preach it when you can't see it bearing fruit. God didn't want Jeremiah to soft petal around. He wanted

Continued from Page B8 Jeremiah to be emphatic with his warnings to the people. There is a tendency in some areas of preaching, to soft petal around sin, and the judgment for sin, and only preach that which doesn't condemn and expose sin. To preach a feel good gospel.

A feel good gospel is all about what God can do for us, and never about what we can do for God.

A feel good gospel is a gospel that says, all God wants is for us to be happy. But what God really wants, is for us to be holy. What God really wants is for us to make a whole hearted commitment to Him, and when and if we'll do that, we will receive the ultimate in happiness. We will experience true joy beyond measure.

Some are out here playing down the bad news about hell and judgment, and exaggerating the good news. There's a lot of dumbing down the gospel these days. Skirting around judgmental issues as if they weren't a part of the truth of God. When in fact, it most certainly is a part of the truth of God.

God said to Jeremiah, tell the people about my mercy. If they'll turn away from sin and turn back to Me, I'll stay my hand of judgment upon them. But if they will not repent, neither will I repent of bringing judgment heavily upon them.

For someone to say, I have no sin, it is self deception. The apostle John wrote, "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us" (1 John 1:8). We must realize that "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23). Some think they have no sin because they deny what sin really is.

There are sins of commission and sins of omission. Mostly we are guilty of the latter. When we know to do good and do it not. That is a sin of omission. When we know we should pray and do it not, it is a sin of omission. When we see a brother or sister destitute and in need and do not help them, although it is within our power to do so, it is a sin of omission.

God offers mankind free will

From the writings of the Rev. Billy Graham

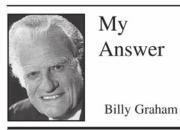

Q: I've been a Christian for many years and I'm embarrassed to admit that there are things I've never known. I heard on a radio program, for instance, that God has given good things to people who continue to defy His truth. Why would people do this and what does the phrase "the common grace of God" really mean? - G.G.

A: God has given every human being the very breath of life. He has given us the beauty of nature. He has given each person a measure of talent and intelligence. He has given us opportunity. He has sustained us and offers His love to everyone. All these good things come from Him. This is known as the common grace of God.

"He makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and the unjust" (Matthew 5:45). God gives good things to all people.

God also offers mankind free will -- the right to reject Him. It is hard to believe that anyone would reject such grace and such love, but millions do. But in doing so, He retains the right to judge and condemn those who chose to be separated from Him forever. When that happens, mankind will realize the absolute truth of His gracious offer and abundant love, but it will be too late. The Bible says God's wrath will come to those who suppress the truth in unrighteousness (Romans 1:18). Those who receive Him are washed in Christ's blood. God's courtroom will be arrayed in the light of the truth, just as it was when Jesus was brought to trial and given the opportunity to defend Himself. Pilate asked, "What is truth?" (John 18:38) after Jesus had told him, "Everyone who is of the truth hears My voice" (John 18:37).

(This column is based on the words and writings of the late Rev. Billy Graham.)

Don't Buy Until the First One Sells

Dear Dave,

My wife and I are looking to move from Washington, D.C., to Greenville, South Carolina, in a couple of months, and then sell our current home in February or March after she gets things wrapped up with her job. We are a little worried, though, because of all the things we're hearing about the housing market crashing. Could you speak to this, please? Nick

Dear Nick,

Your emotions and things you hear can creep up on you. I get that. But the fact is, there are still four buyers out there for every house that's up for sale. Now, are the buyers and the market as active and frenzied as they were several months ago? No. But you have to remember, the last couple of years have been crazy-strange times for the housing market.

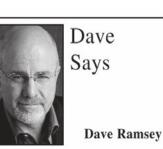

I've been in the real estate business since 1978, and I've never seen anything like it. Usually, it takes about 90 days to sell a house. You'll get some offers, and none of them will be at full price, but everyone will have time to think about things. That's normal, and it's probably a lot closer to how things will work themselves out for you now in Greenville.

But in any economy, my advice to you would be don't buy another house until yours has sold. If you end up with two house payments and your old house is sitting empty while you're having to pay for the mortgage, taxes, utilities and all the upkeep to make sure it's ready to show, you're going to become what's known as a motivated seller. I don't want you to just give it away, but you'll need to be very careful to make sure the timing on this deal makes sense.

Personally, I wouldn't buy another house until the first one sells.
